Showdown Bargaining at Hand

Red Chinese Critics Challenged by Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union Wednesday threw a tough challenge at its critics—led by the Red Chinese—in a statement indicating showdown bargaining at a world Commuist summit conference.

Moscow sharply informed the Communist world that the principles laid down by the Kremlin under Premier Khrushchev's leadership remain the controlling factors of Communist global policy.

The statement cleanly clashed with an official pronouncement of the Chinese Communists, published Monday in the Peiping People's Daily, assailing Khrushchev's theories of peaceful coexistence and his insistence that World War III can and must be avoided. The Chinese retorted that it is a illusion for Communists to think they can get along with "imperialism" — meaning the capitalist West.

The Soviet statement was published by the Communist party paper Pravda. The paper also published an interview with Khrushchev repeating his refusal to take part in drafting any system of controls over disarmament unless the Western powers first accept the fundamentals of a Soviet deman that disarmament come first and controls over it second.

The appearacne of the two artic es at the same time semed an indication of the toughest sort of bargaining in the Communist summit meeting which has been going on in Moscow since Nov. 9, with Red chiefs from all parts of the world in attendance.

On the disarmament question, at least, Khrushchev could demonstrate to the Red Chinese that he could present an uncompromising face to the West.

But Pravda also told the Chinese the principles of peaceful coexistence and prohibition of nuclear weapons as outlined in the Moscow declaration issued after a s milar Communist summit in 1957 remain valid as the controlling principles of Communist policy.

Weather-Eye Satellite Sends Cloud Pictures

Photos From Bigger Of 2 Cameras Not Clear, However

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A camera-carrying weather-eye satellite zipped into orbit Wednesday and quickly started transmitting cloud pictures which meteorologists hope to use in actual forecasts. However, there was indication of disappointment with early results.

The 280-pound robot weatherman—Tiros II—rode into space atop of thundering Thor - Delta rocket. Its near-perfect circular orbit ranged from 406 to 431 miles above the earth.

Sent Back Pictures

Within hours, the drum-shaped satellite sent back pictures taken by the smaller of its two television cameras. Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration expressed satisfaction at the time and said the larger camera would begin transmitting soon.

It did, but the resulting pictures appeared disappointing. It wasn't certain whether there was an equipment malfunction or whether the poor results were a temporary situation caused by an initial power drain.

NASA was hopeful the quality of prints would improve.

Almost 12 hours after the launch, NASA reported that Tiros is generally operating well.

"The only problem seems to be with the wide angle camera," the space agency said in a statement.

Cause Being Probed

"The cause of the poor performance of the camera is being investigated, and scientists hope to have an explanation within a day or so.

"Pictures from the narrow angle camera are of generally good quality."

The purpose is to use pictures of cloud cover over large portions of the globe in forecasting large weather systems such as snowstorms, making Tiros II the world's first working space weatherman.

Too Soon For Prediction

Dr. F. W. Reichelderfer, chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau, told newsmen in Washington that it was doubtful pictures received Wednesday would be beneficial in

It Happened Ten Years Ago

'Big Snow' Started Slowly But Dumped Down 27 Inches

It began to come down Thursday night. By noon Friday, there were 4½ inches of it on the ground and it was still coming.

"It" was snow, a downpour that began Thanksgiving night, 1950. Two days later, on Saturday, the city was encased in its own 27-inch world of snow, completely shut off from the rest of the world.

Such was the scene 10 years ago. Although the same thing could conceivably recur, it's doubtful that Thanksgiving, 1960, will see even slight rain. The weatherman, on this ominous 10th anniversary, has promised good weather, with temperatures approximately 10 degrees above normal.

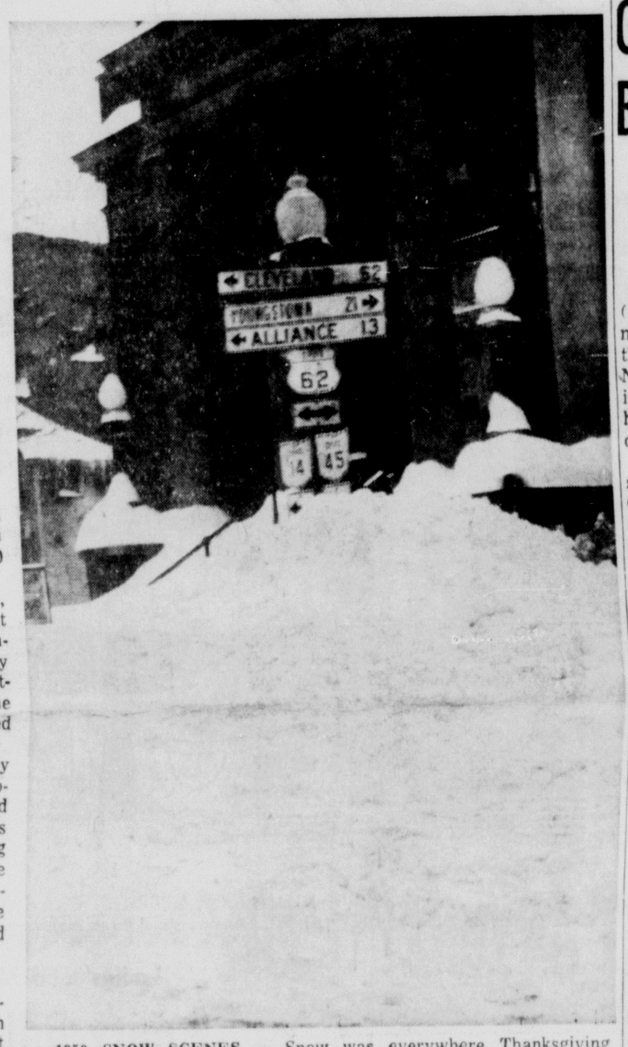

All was not so rosy 10 years ago, however. Following the onslaught of snow, then-Mayor Harry Vincent declared a state of emergency in Salem. All main highway arteries leading into and out of the city were impassable and clogged with stalled traffic.

In the city proper, practically every street was impassable. About the only vehicles that could get through were fire trucks, jeeps and tractors. The task of clearing the streets became a huge one when the city's only snowplow became snowbound for a time at the city service station and got behind schedule.

MOST STORES AND INDUSTries were closed or working with bare skeleton crews. People just couldn't get through to work. Food stores, however, managed to do

Threatening Gestures Made By Congolese

Tunisian Troops Sent to Safeguard U.N. Chiefs' Homes

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Congolese soldiers made menacing gestures Wednesday at the two top officials of the United Nations in the Congo, digging military emplacements near their homes. U.N. forces were placed on emergency alert.

The Congolese appeared to be still enraged by the death of Lt. Col. Joseph Kokolo, commander of the Leopoldville garrison, and three other Congolese soldiers Monday night in a battle with U.N. Tunisian soldiers.

The four were given a state funeral Wednesday. About 100,000 Congolese watched the procession grimly. Some shouted: "Death to the United Nations!"

Two truckloads of Congolese soldiers appeared in the Kalina residential section and began digging trenches in gardens near the villas of Rajeshwar Dayal and Brig. Indarjit Rikhye, the Indian civilian and military U.N. chiefs in the Congo.

As darkness fell, U.N. soldiers from Malaya also were digging gun emplacements and foxholes at strategic points in the Kalina section.

Truckloads of Tunisians, who had fought Congolese in the battle around the Ghana Embassy residence Monday, were sent to Kalina.

The U.N. Command said it feared Congolese soldiers or civilians might attack isolated installations, and ordered all U.N. employes living in outlying districts to move into the headquarters area. There were scattered reports of U.N. officials being molested.

U.N. soldiers and officials were confined to quarters except when on duty. Canadian signalmen billeted in the Kalina residential area were drawn together in one area and warned to be ready to defend themselves.

Malayan soldiers of the U.N. force were put on special guard duty at all U.N.-occupied buildings. Machine guns covered the entrances.

Kokolo was killed by a burst of gun fire in unexplained circumstances at the outset of Monday's battle at the residence of the Ghana charge d'affaires, Nathaniel Welbeck. The diplomat was under U.N. protection like most other officials and diplomats here. He had defied an order by the Congolese military chief, Col. Joseph Mobutu, to get out of the country.

U.N. spokesman Paul Jankowski said "it would hardly be appropriate in the present circumstances" for the United Nations to have been represented at the funeral.

Checks In Mail to 3,795 Persons

Christmas Clubs Here Amount to $316,107

Christmas Savings Club checks totaling $316,107 are in the mails to 3,795 fortunate persons in Salem

The First National, Farmers National and Home Savings & Loan Co. mailed the checks today to the far-sighted persons who began saving up a year ago for the holiday gifts they would want to buy this Christmas season.

The checks will be delivered by the postmen on Friday, the banks announced.

The Farmers National Bank is sending out checks in the amount of $224,333 to 2,658 club holders; the First National Bank $124,275 to 1,515 persons and the Home Savings $26,508 to 365 depositors.

Collectively, the amount is $1,700 more than the Christmas club "bonus" distributed a year ago when checks totaled $314,410 for 3,774 individuals.

The Farmers Bank branch at Hanoverton is dividing $8,985 among 114 club holders, while at its Lisbon office the Farmers Bank will send $50,024 to 629 depositors.

The Lisbon Firestone Bank's 585 Christmas club owners will share in $57,802.

At Columbiana the Union Banking Co. already has mailed $67,194 and the Citizens Savings Bank $55,964 in Christmas savings.

Negro Grid Tilt Violence Feared

Warning Signs Dot Montgomery, Ala.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Ugly warnings of possible violence threatened Wednesday to turn a Negro college football game into a Thanksgiving Day racial uprising.

Hand-lettered signs urging "10,000 white people" to show up at Montgomery's Cramton Bowl for the traditional Tuskegee Institute-Alabama State game were found posted around the city Wednesday morning.

They were addressed to "white friends" who "care about your children and their future."

Scrawled on the dummy bomb—eight wooden sticks wrapped in brown paper—was the threat that, "This could be real Thanksgiving Day at Cramton Bowl."

Prohibition Era Hoodlum Sought

Virgil Dackin Wanted On Several Charges

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Virgil V. Dackin, prohibition era hoodlum who served two terms in Ohio prisons, was being sought Wednesday in a bizarre case that involves charges of forgery, grand theft and embezzlement.

For the past six years the 57-year-old Dackin had led a respectable life in Hinsdale, Ill. He married there and worked in a fashionable cocktail lounge.

Neither his wife, neighbors nor police were aware of his long criminal record, which included a Dayton slaying, armed robberies in Lima and Detroit, and breaking out of the Mansfield Reformatory.

Dackin disappeared from Hinsdale last July. He left behind his wife, a string of thefts and a quantity of bad checks written against his employer.

Hinsdale officers said they have five warrants for Dackin charging him with forgery, theft and embezzlement.

His identity as an Ohio gunman was uncovered by police in Toledo, where Dackin once lived.

A man identifying himself as Edward S. Kelly opened a rental agency here last summer. Among items offered for rental were musical instruments, shotguns, rifles, golf equipment, typewriters, office machines, electric tools, cameras, motion picture projectors, silverware and sewing machines.

Police found later that the items valued at an estimated $10,000, were stolen.

Kelly, who really was Dackin, attempted on Sept. 28 to sell two musical instruments at a downtown music store for a fraction of their value. The store owner

Yule Lights to Signal Shopping Season Start

The splendor and excitement of another Christmas season officially beings tonight with lighting of the downtown street decorations, kicking off a 30-day shopping season for the holidays.

Multi-colored lights are strung across State St. and Broadway, with individual light poles festooned in greenery and holiday ornaments.

Santa will have roomier quarters this year, thanks to the retail merchants. The new location is at the former Western Auto store at the corner of S. Broadway and E. Pershing St. Interior decorating of the site was completed Wednesday by members of the Disbributive Education class at Salem High School.

Santa is to make his first appearance Friday from 7 to 8:30 p.m. He will be back Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. Thereafter, kiddies may visit Santa each Monday, Thursday and Friday night from 7 to 8:30 and each Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4. Santa will close up shop at 4 p.m. Dec. 24.

Most Salem merchants, "optimistic" about the shopping season ahead, have completed store decorations and are ready for the throngs of shoppers who soon will begin to fill the downtown Salem area.

Maras Appeals $650 Holdup Conviction

Holdup man James H. Maras of Warren has appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court from his conviction in the $650 robbery at gunpoint of Nick and Lena Donbar, operators of the Barnett Motel on U.S 62 west of Salem Dec. 11, 1959.

Allegedly accompanying Maras during the holdup were his brother, Edmund, 30, of Newton Falls, and Charles F. Harris, 35, of Warren.

Harris was shot to death by police at Dixon, Ill., Jan. 5 when he pulled a gun after police stopped them for questioning concerning a supermarket holdup in Davenport, Iowa, two days before.

Firestone To Cut Auto Tire Prices

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. said Wednesday it is cutting passenger car tire prices $1 to $4 effective Dec. 1.

E. B. Hathaway, sales vice president, noted that it was the first across-the-board price reduction on passenger tires in some time. "These are the lowest tire prices since 1954," he said.

As an example of the reductions being made, Firestone said its first line 7.50-14 tubeless tire will be reduced from $24.45 to $22.95 and the lowest price tire in this size tubeless will drop from $15.95 to $14.95. In the tubed 6.70-15 series, the first line tire is being cut from $17.45 to $15.95. Prices cited include customer's traded in tire

Hathaway announced also a new guarantee on tires, ranging from 12 to 18 months, depending on the tire series. He said Firestone is the first major rubber company in recent years to offer such a guarantee.

Pottery Negotiations May Resume Monday

Management and labor in the East Liverpool district dinnerware industry have been asked by a federal mediator to resume negotiations on a new working agreement in Cleveland Monday morning—just three days prior to the scheduled expiration of the present contract.

Mediator Clair Willmeth of Cleveland telephoned officials of the U.S. Potters Association and the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters Wednesday afternoon, asking them to reconvene their bargaining sessions at 10 Monday morning at the Statler-Hilton hotel at Cleveland.

Twice recessed in stalemate, the talks will resume under the shadow of an expiring contract and an earlier "no contract, no work" statement from the IBOP.

Resumption of USPA-IBOP negotiations was scheduled despite the fact the union currently is conducting talks at Cleveland with spokesmen for six chinaware manufacturing concerns that also have contracts expiring next Wednesday.

It was reported, the chinaware conference recessed at Cleveland Wednesday evening is scheduled to resume Friday after the holiday.

The chinaware conference concerns the Sterling China Co. and the Wellsville China Co., both of Wellsville, and four other firms.

West Branch Case Hearing Is Delayed

West Branch School District board of education members met Wednesday night to discuss formal acquisition of the 51-acre site at the south edge of Beloit for its new high school and also to employ an architect for the building.

Meanwhile, the Ohio Supreme Court has postponed "until about Dec. 15" hearing on a taxpayer's suit which challenges the validity of the $1,150,000 bond issue approved by voters in West Branch District Nov. 8.

The suit was filed by Virgil Bland of Smith Township, who claimed before the election was held that the bond issue would put the net indebtedness of the district over the 9 per cent limitation imposed by law.

West Branch board's attorneys, Squire, Sanders & Dempsey of Cleveland, maintain that the indebtedness will be under the limit.

No One Lived Happily Ever After

William Bradford's "History of Plymouth Plantation" is not required reading in the public schools. It should be.

It would destroy the happy illusion that the Pilgrim forefathers suffered through a bad winter in 1620-1621, then planted crops, reaped a fat harvest and lived happily ever after. They didn't.

Gov. Bradford had taken over a ragged, losing proposition. The colony was founded under an illomen. Its affairs were mismanaged. It was a decade before its young governor had enough wisdom to abolish collectivism and let the colonists have a stake in prosperity, as their affairs slowly improved. No one lived happily ever after, but the colonists who were hardiest kept on struggling.

Nowhere in Gov. Bradford's account of the ill-omened and struggling project in colonization that he headed is there any justification for the sticky sentimentality that has glossed over the stark misery and fantastic hardships of the Pilgrim.

They were not as austere and grim as their critics have said they were. But neither were they as dedicated, or as worthy of admiration as sentimentalists have made them out to be Bradford's account, which was to become the basis for the sentimentalist buildup of Thanksgiving, in no sense justifies what has been done with it. Although he, himself, had a sense of dedication and mission, it was not shared by his asssociate. Nor were the Puritan regarded by their contemporarie as anything but what they were — members of an extremist sect who had rejected a policy of moderation in British state religions. "Puritanism" was originally, as it has become in this country in recent years, a term of opprobrium.

If the legend of Thanksgiving had been developed with greater attention to historical evidence a recorded by Gov. Bradford, it would have emerged as something entirely different.

Americans would not think of Thanksgiving as a feast.

They would not think of it as the triumph of the Plymouth colonists over adversity.

The would not think of it as the symbolic break-through into a promised land that was to give poverty-stricken settlers a high standaro of living.

They would conceive of Thanksgiving as a time to remember that the Plymouth colonists broke the shackles of collectivism and became free to grapple with a hostile world on their own terms.

The first Thanksgiving in 1621 was a sharing of collective poverty. The Thanksgivings that were to come later commemorated the miracles possible when individual energy is released and everyone had a chance to eat his own turkey and cranberry sauce.

As Long As They Need Each Other

When Communist conspirators feel blue, they read what American politicians say about them. That makes them feel strong and happy again.

Only in American politicans can a Communist see himself portrayed as a success story. Only in the citadel of private enterprise can he find all the weaknesses of public enterprise papered over like cracks in the ceiling.

Perhaps there really is something, after all, to the bitter observation that if communism hadn't been available it would have had to be benefited to give the United States something to be afraid of.

There is a tremendous will among Americans to believe that the Communist Conspiracy is more powerful than it is, although no one denies it's powerful. But there are always those cracks in the ceiling.

The paperhangers are going to go to work this week on the 43rd anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

But the main business at hand will be to keep the top Communists of the Soviet Union and Red China from breathing fire on each other There apparntly has been a negotiated truce so the two leading Communist countries can do something jointly about their chinery.

Whatever danger there had been of a falling out over Red China's fire-breathing credo of going to war right away to stamp out private enterprise is believed to have Moscow to Peiping that as long as they need each other they should have peace.

But in truth, it isn't war with the non-Communist world they fear as much as war with each other. It's a frightening prospect for both.

That's why it must be a treat for Communists to get hold of U.S. newspapers to read in the remarks of U.S. politicians that the only place in the world where everything is going without a hitch is in Communist-land far, far across the seas where Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung have everything undr control and their prestige is not cloudy all day.

A Younger Mister Republican

The likelihood that State Rep. Robert Taft Jr. of Cincinnati will become the majority floor leader when the Republicans resume control of the Ohio House of Representatives in January is welcome news both to his party and to Ohio citizens in general.

Mr. Taft has distinguished himself in his legislative service, which began in 1955, impressing Republican members of the House with his promotion of GOP principles and all members of the House with his educated grasp of the problems faced by the General Assembly.

Another facet of his public career has been the care with which he has planned each of the steps he has taken, seeking to build experience and reputation before going on. This is reminiscent of the manner in which his illustrious father, the late U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, approached everything in his long career.

There is no doubt that the younger Taft will devote all his energies to fulfililng the role of majority floor leader in the Ohio House, if that is the job he has at hand.

Neither is there any doubt that if he aspires to serve Ohioans in some other capacity in the future he will have continued to build the solid record expected of the son of the late "Mr. Republican."

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Four-hour TV drama, reduced after first night to two hours is latest airwave experiment with O'Neill's "The Iceman Cometh." To students of fine writing it was a treat but generally speaking it was a case of "The Iceman Cometh and the TV Fan Goeth."

A waterfront barroom drama, pretty tough for fireside consumption, it seemed to many fans more like something called "Breath Valley Days," "What's My Whine?" or "The Uncorkables,"

Most TV addicts prefer "The Cowboy Cometh." Art is art and O'Neill is O'Neill, but a runaway stagecoach plunging over precipice can lick 'em both.

First part of "The Iceman Cometh" one week and second part the next was like sawing a playwright in half. By the time second half arrived TV fans had seen so many TV dramas they couldn't remember whether first half had ended with a whodunit mystery, a private eye pursuit or an alcoholic crisis in a panel show.

And the may have feared attorney's part in baseball operation might lead pitchers to refuse to answer when asked "Have you got your stuff?"

Jim Hagerty is well qualified by experience to be top man in television. For All the Privileges Free Men Take For Granted

By JOHN N. ADAMS

On this Thanksgiving Day, we will set aside a few minutes from our pleasure-seeking and feasting to count our blessings. Yet few of us will include a word of thanks, also, for the problems that beset us.

It is far easier and more natural to complain and blame others for our irritations and disappointments. Very few of us, even in the so-called depressed areas of our country, can truly say that our blessings don't far outnumber our troubles.

No one in 1960 America has had to endure the hardships, privations and discouragements that the hard-pressed Pilgrims experienced in their first year on their new frontier in that bitter winter of 1620-21.

For survival of that ordeal and for a harvest of sufficient grain to carry them through the next winner, those early colonists went down on their knees in prayers of gratitude to Divine Providence.

Following worship that November day in 1621, the Pilgrims turned to feasting in which the friendly Indians participated. The Indians had taught the newcomers the art of planting and cultivating their fields and the kindness was not forgotten when the benefits were reaped.

THE CELEBRATION ended with more prayers and worship services in a rude log church.

We have learned many things since these early settlers fled from a land of persecution to a hostile wilderness but a land where they could practice their religious belief as their conscience dictated.

Today in our modern, comfortable world we are spared the hardships of a raw wilderness.

We enjoy the highest standard of living the world has ever known.

There is compensation provided by a paternalistic government for the unemployed, poor relief for the indigent, subsidies to farmers to store surplus crops and Social Security benefits for the retired.

For the culturally-minded, there are free public libraries in practically every city and hamlet in the nation. In the larger cities there are the best museums in the world.

Although many of our schools are crowded, there still is opportuity for a free education for all children in our public schools. Even in the realm of higher education, there are hundreds of college scholarships every year for those willing to put forth a little effort to gain them.

OUR MILES and miles of modern highways are jammed with 70 million automobiles, and at the end of a day's journey there are plush hotels and motels for weary travelers.

There are mountain resorts where we can vacation in summer and sunny beaches where we can relax in winter.

Engineers daily are inventing new gadgets to make our life easier. For an evening at home, there are free radio and TV programs to entertain us.

Yet, despite the luxuries and comforts with which we are surroed, we are filled with tensions, uncertainities and doubts.

Our church rolls are at an all time high and new church buildings are springing up all over the country, but they seldom are filled at worship services.

The more we have gained in material benefits, the more we have lost of the spiritual quality that fortified the Pilgrims and made their hardships endurable.

The more we have prospered, the more we have turned away from the abiding faith and trust in the God of our fathers.

IN OUR SEARCH for security, our solution is to surrender more and more of our heritage of self-respect and self-assurance and to rely more and more on government to do for us those things which we could do for ourselves.

Had those early pioneers been less devout and less dedicated, it is doubtful that this nation even would have been born much less survived to be a leader among all peoples of the world.

On this Thanksgiving Day, we can be thankful we have survived our shortcomings both as individuals and as a nation and that it still is not too late to shake off the lethargy that is binding us.

We can pray for an awakening to the folly of chasing synthetic security and the fortitude to abandon it before it betrays us.

Above all, we can be thankful that there still is time to shore up our spiritual stamina and that we can return to the faith that served our forefathers in our search for guidance in dealing with our problems today.

Golden Rule

By TRUMAN TWILL

For some years I have been studying a modernization of the Golden Rule. The original version —"Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them" — never has been closely analyzed.

The idea is sound, but it's misapplied. The Golden Rule was used in places where it never should have been brought to bear. It was not fully comprehended.

What it meant was that the power of example was a tremendous force and should be given a fair chance.

What it never meant was that everyone was under obligation to fool around with the power of example in situations that called for self-survival by direct measures.

If a bully-boy is coming at you with blood in his eye, it isn't going to do any good to pucker up for a kiss. The thing to do is to pop the bully-boy in the eye, if feasible, or otherwise to turn on steam and get out of his way.

"Whatsoever ye feel sure that men are going to do unto you, be prepared."

This works equally well, whether it be good or evil that the men are going to do unto you. If it's something good, return kind for kind and always give credit for good intent. If it's bad, keep your guard up.

The original Golden Rule, as misinterpreted and misapplied, puts too much dependence on good intentions. It becomes a philosophy of helplessness. It encourages bully-boys to take advantage of helpless victims.

In our own United States, it generated needless trouble by imputing good intentions to people who never harbored a good intention in their lives.

It encouraged Communists to move in where they had no right to be. It let plunderers rob the people of wealth and security they had every reason to protect.

It let crum-bums louse up things they never should have been allowed to touch. It gave public hearings to demagogues who abused the right of free speech by claiming they had a right to free audiences.

"Be no more than twice as fair unto others as you know from experience they are likely to be unto you."

That is the easy-to-understand version of the modernized Golden Rule I have been working on.

Give everybody the advantage of a doubt. Lean over backward, but do not fall on the back of your neck.

Retaliation Plan

By RAY CROMLEY

Should President Order It In Advance?

Top government circles close to the White House are urging that by 1965 field commanders be authorized under certain circumstances to launch a nuclear retaliation attack without immediate word from the President or Secretary of Defense.

These officials, both inside and outside the Pentagon, would have the president issue orders years in advance on what to do in case of a massive Communit sneak attack on the U. S.

These orders would outline precisely when the commander of a missile or strategic bomber group could use his atomic and hydrogen weapons.

The plan's proponents argue that under this system the U.S. would not lie helpless even if the president were dead, his successor unavailable and the Pentagon hierarchy blown up in the initial rais.

THESE OFFICIALS also argue that the plan does not mean the decision to retaliate with nuclear weapons would be taken from the president, but that the president would make the decision in advance.

Some would go further, allowing non-American European forces in N.A.T.O. to control US-manufactured atomic weapons and use them without direct command from the US. president. This extreme view has not gained wide acceptance here.

What would be the circumstances under which field commanders could take this awesome step without an immediate command?

Details aren't yet worked out. In general, commanders could act if A- and H-bombs hit the Pentagon, key continental U.S. military installations and industrial cities simultaneously and communications from the top military command and the president were "out."

THE PLANNERS face major problems:

1. How to define an attack in advance accurately enough so war won't be touched off by accidental explosions.

2. How to make certain field commanders know which enemy nation has set off the attack.

The men proposing this are confident definitions can be made foolproof.

Before such orders could be issued to field commanders, there would have to be some understanding with Congress. Military men say the see little difficulty here. They hold the president and his military commanders have the right now to defend the country and themselves under direct attack.

They recall that defending even without a declaration of war has been common practice since the American Revolution.

They maintain that advance orders will meet requirements of the law which say "there must be a presidential order before a nuclear weapon can be fired."

A POLL OF SOME KEY congressmen, however, indicates there is a difference of opinion on this. Some influential legislators believe the president has authority to issue advance orders on firing nuclear weapons; some question it. There probably would be considerable debate on Capitol Hill.

If agreed on, the Pentagon strategists would want the conditions under which field commanders could set off their nuclear missiles made public and told to the Kremlin. They believe this would help to deter war.

"Suppose," said one Pentagon planner, "Khrushchev knew even a sneak attack knocking out the central civil and militar authority of the U.S. would set off retaliatory ICBMs to destroy the Soviet. Then, wouldn't he think a long time before ordering war?"

According to the planners, the orders-in-advance program isn't necessary yet. The Russians haven't the missile capability to knock out all central U.S. nerve center and leave this country even temporarily without an operating chain of command. But the Reds, it's calculated, might have that ability by 1965.

No Monopoly on Culture

By KAY SHERWOOD

Do you ever pause in your appointed rounds of home, school and supermarket to dream of the day you'll get out of this rut and pursue Culture? I know; we're going to read all those good books and go to the big city and see the museums and art galleries and theaters. Well, it's a nice day-dream but it's out of date.

In a recent conversation I had with Dr. Richard McLanathan, I learned the modern approach to the brighter cultural life. Instead of pursuing culture at some distant date, you nab it now in your own community.

Dr. McLanathan is the young, vigorous director of the Munson-Williams Proctor Institute in Utic N.Y., a shining example of what a modern museum can mean in a relatively small community.

FOR MONTHS he traveled the country visiting museums in towns from 2,000 to 100,000 population to borrow works of art for the widely acclaimed "Art Across America" show which opened the new institute building in October.

He told me, among other things, that there are small towns from coast to coast supporting a lively, cultural program through their museums; that many others could be more active IF they had the grass roots supports of women. He says that almost any area in the country has its quota of artits and craftsmen who merit wider audiences.

When he talks about a "museum," he uses it in its literal translation: "house of the muses" or, in modern terms, a community art center.

"Enthusiastic, dedicated women are the key to a successful community museum program," he emphasized, "But amateur enthusiasm alone is not enough. Professional direction is needed."

I PROTESTED that many small towns just couldn't afford a professional director. If a town can't swing a full-time director, he explained, there are trained consultants who can outline a program, evaluate art collections and explain the proper care and storage of art objects a prime need in many small museums, he said).

Many towns have small museum and historical societies which are storehouses of art object donated by townfolk. If such an institution is obscure and little-appreciated by the community, who's to blame?

McLanathan hammered home the point that a program should strive to have something for everyone in order to reach its goal of full community participation. Besides art collections, there are art classes, movies, dance programs, lectures, art festivals, craft shows and sales as possibilities.

IN THE UTICA INSTITUTE, there is a children's gallery where the youngsters can approach the enjoyment of art directly: sculptures to feel, color and design toys to play with.

You just can't get away from committees and, says the doctor, a hard-working one is needed to spark a meaningful museum program. In Utica, he got together a committee by asking major church, civic and social clubs each to recommend one woman who would serve. This committee now numbers about 30.

One important function of a community art center, he says, is to act a a patron of the artists in the area and to spur creative efforts. A museum should, for example, buy selected works from local artists which meet strict professional standards.

AN ANNUAL ART SHOW with works chosen by a professional jury recognizes the importance of the serious artist. A summer arts festival, on the other hanl, can be an open invitation to everyone to exhibit work.

Through its art shop, a museum might sell carefully selected wares of area talent. Last year, artists and craftsmen in the Utica area received $7,000 from sales arranged by the institute, McLanathan said.

And, because many of these pieces were planned and priced so the average family could afford them (around $25), dozens of families can take pride in owning original works of art.

Plans for the party and arrangements for a benefit project Dec. 10 at Weir's Wallpaper and Paint Store were made at a recent business session. Deputy Marie Powell of Canton was in attendance.

Lunch was served by Mrs. R. W. Broomall and Mrs. William Needham.

The Dec. 13 meeting will be in the Post Home.

Eleven of the members attended the No. 13 service at the First Presbyterian Church in Lisbon, when a Christian flag was dedicated by Mrs. Helen O'Brine in memory of Mrs. Katherine O'Brine Kridler.

Emmanuel Lutheran Women's Circles Conduct Meetings

Five circles of the Women of the Church of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church met recently in separate sessions for programs in keeping with the Thanksgiving theme.

Martha

A meeting of the Martha Circle was held in the home of Mrs. Dan Theiss, with seven members present. Mrs. George Woerther was co-hostess.

Mrs. Vincent Moore gave the opening prayer. Devotions were given by Mrs. Woerther on the subjects, "How We Study Our Bible and Pray," "Who Can Lift the Logs" and "Living for God."

A thank-offering service was held when members returned the collection boxes with Thanksgiving prayers added. Mrs. Albert Linder reviewed the program topics, "Open Your Heart,' "Always and in Everything Give Thanks," "Advent Means Coming" and "Advent Symbols."

Mrs. Pete Herman is representative for stewardship, and Mrs. Walter Linder is representative for education. Grace Lutheran Sanitorium Christmas Seals were distributed.

A Christmas party will be Dec. 14 in the home of Mrs. Howard Smith of Damascus Road. Miss Claribel Bickel will be co-hostess.

Ruth

Ruth Circle met in the home of Mrs. Joe Gross, with Mrs. Rudy Schuster as co-hostess. Eighteen members and a guest, Miss Minnie Schuster, were present.

The song, "We Gather Together," was sung by the group, and a scripture verse was given with the free will offering.

Mrs. Robert Hill was in charge of the devotions, "To the Ends of the Earth." She also presented the program, "Open Your Heart," in which all members participated. The meaning of Advent was discussed.

Mrs. Rudy Schuster will help pack Christmas boxes for shut-ins.

A Christmas party will be held Dec. 14 in the home of Mrs. Edward Lesch. There will be an exchange of gifts following a covered dish supper.

Naomi

Ten members were present when the Naomi Circle met. Mrs. Dan Webber led the devotions, using the theme "Thanksgiving."

Mrs. Ralh Gang read two articles, "Paralyzed by Faithlessness" and "A Good Warning to Heed."

Mrs. Katharine Theiss presented the program topic, "How Should We Study Our Bible and Pray?" All members participated in reading Bible passages.

An inspiring thank-offering service was followed by prayer and the hymn, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains." "Always and in Everything Give Thanks."

The Christmas party will be Dec. 13 at 8 .m. in the parlor of the Parish Education Building. A fifty-cent gift exchange was decided upon, and the hostesses will be Mrs. Theiss and Mrs. Howard Jesko.

Mrs. Jesko is in charge of packing Christmas boxes for the shut-ins.

Esther

"Here I Am," was the opening hymn sung by 11 members of the Esther Circle, who met in the home of Mrs. John Sox Jr. Each member repeated a Bible verse as she gave her free will offering.

Devotions given by Mrs. Mike Binder were on the subject, "The Acid Test."

Mrs. Ronald Whipkey's program topic was "Open Your Heart" and she also discussed the subject, "What is Advent."

The new leader, Mrs. Charles Alexander, conducted the business session, which was closed with the group repeating The Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Don Abe assisted the hostess when refreshments were served.

Hannah

Mrs. Wilma Herbert was co-hostess when the Hannah Circle members gathered in the home of Mrs. John Bauman.

Devotions were given by Mrs. John Ulrich, while Mrs. Dale Thompson was in charge of the thank-offering service.

Program topics, presented by Mrs. George Gottschling and Mrs. John Melitschka, were followed by The Lord's Prayer repeated in unison.

Newlyweds Honored At Sebring Reception

A reception was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cook of Sebring honoring Mr. and Mrs. James Cook who were married Oct. 31 in Monroe, Mich.

The bride is the former Irene Beck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beck of Lisbon. The bridegroom is a son of Walter Cook of Sebring and Mrs. Thelma Cook of Salem.

Mrs. Cook, a graduate of Lisbon High School, is attending National Beauty College in Canton.

Mr. Cook is employed by his father at the Ohio Ave. Garage at Sebring. The newlyweds are residing at 317 N. 15th St., Sebring.

Engagement Is Told

Miss Karen Ann Zeigler

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O. Zeigler of Lisbon Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Ann, to Richard B. Fox of Salem, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Fox of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Miss Zeigler is a senior at Kent State University. Mr. Fox, a graduate of Notre Dame University, is an engineer employed by the Bliss Company.

An early summer wedding is planned.

It's sleeveless and has companion jacket of nylon lace with huge, sheer sleeves. Gown and peignoir set in smooth nylon tricot satinette (center) is, of course, completely washable. The fabric has the smooth feel of satin but needs no ironing. Quilted peignoir in nylon (right) is both warm and weightless. Like the other fashions shown here, it is washable, needs no ironing. Any woman would love to find one of these under her tree.

Amvets Post Plans For Future Events

Major Chester Amedia of the Army Reserve will be guest speaker when Amvets Posts and Auxiliaries from District 19 hold a joint meeting, in observance of Pearl Harbor Day, Dec. 7 at 8 p.m. at Amvets Post 44, Sheeley St., Youngstown.

Don England, commander of the Salem post, announced that Salem Amvets Post 68 will comprise the color guard, and that the public is invited to the event.

Mr. England also announced that the anual Salem Amvets family Christmas party will be held Dec. 11 from 4 to 7:30 p.m. at the Kights of Columbus Hall. Don Smith, George McFeely, Mike Oana and Carl Sobotka comprise the committee in charge.

The Salem United Veterans Council Christmas Toy and Clothing Drive is now underway, with the repair shop in the former Western Auto store room, Commander England said. Those who have contributions for the project may call Commander England to have their items picked up.

George McFeely, athletic chairman, announced that the Amvets State Bowling Tournament will be in Columbus in March. Entry blanks may be obtained by calling Mr. McFeely.

The next business meeting will be Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the England home, 584 Woodland Ave.

Golf Club Women Plan For Luncheon

The Women's Association of the Salem Golf Club will hold a luncheon Tuesday at 1 p.m. in the club house. Mrs. Edith Purviance will review the book, "Fathers Day Comes Once a Year and Then It Always Rains," by Harold H. Martin.

Mrs. Lester Bateman, Mrs. Fred Fenske and Mrs. Delmar Smith will be in charge of the luncheon. Reservations may be called in to the club until Sunday.

East Fairfie'd

The church will hold a School of Missions on the evenings of Nov. 27, 28, 29 and Dec. 1 and 2 at 7:30 p.m. each night.

Theme of the school will be "Into All The World Together". There will also be classes conducted for children, grades one through six, and youth, junior and senior high.

Mary Hawkins will be the teacher for the chilren and Virginia Crook for the youth. Rev. George will teach the adults.

A nursery will be provided. There will be special music planned by the committee and the commission on evangelism will have charge of devotionals.

Tea Is Enjoyed By Travelers Club

Arrangements were made by a committee headed by Mrs. John Mulford and assisted by Mrs. Gail Roose, Mrs. George Bunn, Mrs. Arthur Vaughan and Mrs. Burt Leeper.

Centering the lace covered tea table was an arrangement of fall fruits and vegetables in a large silver bowl surrounded by pachysandra and gourds. White candles in silver canelabra completed the decor.

Miss Mable Chapman and Mrs. Orvil Hoover resided at the tea table. In keeping with the theme of the day, "Sentimental Journeys," two papers were presented by Mrs. Robert McCulloch Jr. and Mrs. Zerbs Frye. Guests included Mrs. Fred Zang and Mrs. John Mulford Jr.

The next meeting will be Dec. 6 in the Ruth Smucker House.

Winona Girl Is Star In Kent State Play

Melva Outland of Winona is a principal character in the cast of the 25-century-old Greek tragedy, "Electra," by Sophocles, which will begin a four-day run Dec. 7 in Kent State University's new theater. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Alice Rhodes is Wed To Allen H. Bell

The Rev. William L. Woodall officiated at a double-ring ceremony last Friday which united in marriage Mrs. Alice A. Rhodes and Mr. Allen H. Bell, both of Columbiana.

With The Patients

Mrs. Chester Lentz of Stewart Road has been admitted to Mercy Hospital in Canton for surgical treatment.

Open House Held By Prospect PTA

The Prospect Parent-Teacher Association observed open house Monday night with 350 attending.

Each teacher was presented with a rose corsage from PTA members. Parents visited the teachers in their classrooms, after which William Sechler, president, conducted a short business session.

The PTA's annual fund-raising project, now under way, was reported on by Mrs. Richard Hahn, ways and means chairman.

Paul Roher, principal, outlined coming school events for the parents. A request for new basketball suits for Prospect Basketball Team was considered. Details will be announced later by mothers of the team members.

Lunch was served by room mothers of kindergarten and second grades.

The next PTA meeting will be Jan 16. The program will feature a discussion by a panel of doctors, headed by Dr. William Kolozsi. Mrs. Robert Bartholomew, program chairman, urges all members to be present.

Health Department's October Report Given

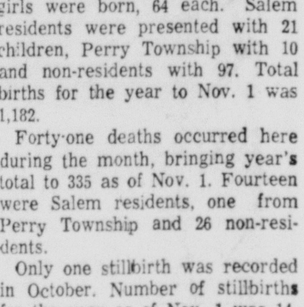

A total of 128 births were recorded in the city during October, according to statistics released by Angelo Vivino, city health director. The same number of boys and girls were born, 64 each. Salem residents were presented with 21 children, Perry Township with 10 and non-residents with 97. Total births for the year to Nov. 1 was 1,182.

Forty-one deaths occurred here during the month, bringing year's total to 335 as of Nov. 1. Fourteen were Salem residents, one from Perry Township and 26 non-residents.

Only one stillbirth was recorded in October. Number of stillbirths for the year as of Nov. 1 was 14.

Mrs. Henry Willard of S. Union Ave. reports that forsythia bushes, which have rebudded this fall, are now beginning to bloom in that area.

U.S. Sends Huge Balloon Aloft To Study Weather, Radiation

The plastic balloon, launched at 3:50 a.m. (CST) from Joe Foss Field here, was caught in high jet streams as it soared up from eastern South Dakota.

It was timed to parachute its payload to earth over southern Michigan about 3 p.m.

A parachute bearing the 400 pound instrument pack landed three miles east of Freesoil in Mason County of western Michigan. The instruments were recovered by University of Michigan authorities and state police.

Officers said they received reports that three parachutes landed in the Freesoil area and a small auxiliary balloon landed in the Luther area in Lake County. They said that the items seen were parts of the balloon. The parts were recovered by officers.

Dangling at the end of the tear-shaped balloon, which is as high as a 16-story building, were cameras to take pictures approximating photos from the two television cameras in Tiros II, which was put into orbit earlier Wednesday from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

A University of Michigan research team put together the instrument package and the balloon was launched by Raven Industries of Sioux Falls. A spokesman for the company said the balloon sped over southern Minnesota and into Iowa, then zig-zagged back in the winds 20 miles in the sky, over Wisconsin and across Lake Michigan.

The plastic ballon was tracked both by plane and a bus that followed on the ground during the early morning flight.

J. R. Smith, general manager of the balloon-launching firm, termed the flight "apparently very good," adding:

"We're quite sure of the performance of the balloon. But until all the information is in, we can't make a definite statement. Indications are that the radio equipment was working all right and that is really the most important thing."

Cities, Others Are Billed on Election Costs

Twenty-six Columbiana County subdivisions will be charged $4,167 as their share of the cost of submitting special questions and issues at the Nov. 8 general election, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, announced Wednesday.

Amounts charged against each of the cities, villages, townships and school districts will be certified to County Auditor Kenneth Bell to be withheld in the next tax settlemen.

Law provides that when a local question or issue is submitted at a general election, the subdivision will be billed only for the cost of printing ballots and any legal advertising that is necessary.

Of the total of $4,167 billed to the subdivisions, $3,660 is for ballots and $506 is for advertising.

The charge against Salem totals $790. The city had three propositions Nov. 8—the charter commission proposal, firemen's initiative petition for a 56-hour work week and renewal of half-mill park levy.

The charge against East Liverpool totals $655. The city submitted two propositions Nov. 8—an initiative ordinance on a municipal income tax ad a proposed renewal of a 2-mill garbage and trash collection levy.

In addition, the city and the East Liverpool School District were billed a total of $709 as their share of the expense of registering electors for both the May primaries and the general election.

Charges against other cities and villages are: East Palestine, $190; Wellsville, $313; Leetonia, $61; Lisbon, $163; New Waterford, $37, and Salineville, $106.

"Bills" against townships are: Center, $84; Franklin, $71; Knox, $63; Perry, $66; St. Clair, $77; Salem, $100; Washington, $72; Wayne, $36; West, $53 and Yellow Creek $73.

Charges agaist school districts are: East Palestine, $132; Wellsville, $131; Columbiana, $261; Leetonia, $108; Beaver Local, $141; Fairfield-Waterford, $116; Franklin Local, $34, and Southern Local, $221.

City Wins Suit Filed By Navarre Bakery

A Common Pleas Court jury Wednesday afternoon returned a verdict for the city of Salem in a $4,189.86 damage suit filed by Alfred Nichols Bakery of Navarre.

The bakery sued for damages sustained by one of its trucks when it struck a tree limb on N. Lincoln Ave., May 28, 1959. The firm claimed negligence on the part of the city.

3 Sergeants Give Skin for Burned Girl

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Three veteran Army sergeants gave up great strips of skin from their legs Wednesday to help a tiny girl in her uphill fight to recover from burns suffered in a mysterious fire.

The Brooke Army Medical Center sergeants said they volunteered for the operations after realizing it could have been a daughter of one of them lying in pain in the burn ward at Brooke General Hospital instead of 4-year-old Peggy Roller.

The skin — about 128 square inches from each man — will be grafted Thursday over some of the burns which cover more than half the body of the pretty daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Harry N. Roller of El Paso, Tex.

Without the grafts, doctors said, the girl's chances to survive would be nil. Even with them, there is less than a 50-50 likelihood she will recover, surgeons said.

The decision to donate the skin means M. Sgt. William M. Goodloe of Earlington, Ky., Sgt. 1.C Earl D Bieler of Machias, Maine, and Sgt 1.C. Harold S. Orff of Milo, Maine, will be unable to spend Thanksgiving Day with their families. They will be painfully hobbled by the slowly healing skin until after Christmas and New Year's.

Goodloe, 45, with more than 21 years in the Army, has three children. Bieler, 26, is the father of two and Orff, 37, has five children ranging in age from 2 to 20.

Hazel-eyed, fair-skinned Peggy received burns on her body, arms and legs and had her dark hair burned off Nov. 16 as she fled screaming from the Roller home. Her parents said they can not explain the blaze unless she was playing with matches.

6 Truckers Forfeit Bonds For Overload

Six more truck drivers forfeited overload bonds in Mayor Dean Cranmer's court in the past few days, bringing to $1,592.80 the amount taken in from fines and bond forfeits as the result of the city's new weight law governing local streets.

Losing bonds for overload this week were:

SANTA'S HOUSE MADE READY — Students from the Distributive Education classes at Salem Senior High School have been helping to get Santa's headquarters at the corner of S. Deaths, Funerals

Glenn C. Dunlap

Services will be held at the Cassady-Turkle Funeral Home in Alliance Saturday at 10 a.m. for Glenn C. Dunlap, 72, of the Homeworth-Alliance Rd., who died Tuesday.

A retired school teacher, he taught at Knox School until 1958. He also was a farmer and member of Mile Branch Grange.

Charles A. Bogar, Sr.

Charles A. Bogar Sr., 82, died at 5:35 p.m. Wednesday at his home on Goshen Diagonal Road, following six months illness of complications.

Born in Austria-Hungary Jan. 7, 1878, he was a son of Charles and Sarah Beres Bogar.

He was a retired farmer and had lived 47 years on the farm where he died. He was a member of St. Paul Catdolic Church and a charter member of the William Penn Fraternal Association.

He was married to Mary Tary Jan. 15, 1905.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Miss Elsie Bogar and Miss Mary Jane Bogar, both at home; three sons, Stephen A. Bogar of Pittsburgh and Joseph J. and Charles A. Bogar, both of RD 1, Salem; and five grandchildren.

Funeral service will be Saturday at 9 a.m. at St. Paul Church, with Rev. Delbert Cook of Alliance officiating.

Burial will be in Grandview Cemetery.

Recent events, said Pravda, proved the Soviet position to be correct.

There was little doubt this Khrushchev position has been under Red Chinese fire. The Peiping People's Daily editorial Monday by implication accused the Soviets of overestimating the strength of the Western camp.

Peiping reminded the Kremlin it had agreed in 1957 that the "imperialists" were "the sworn enemies of the people," and that as long as "imperialism" existed "there will always be soil for aggressive wars.' The answer, Peiping insisted, was nothing less than incessant effort to build up the military strength of the Communist camp.

Alhough some kind of compromise—on paper — was considered likely as a result of the Communist summit, Pravda's statement on the heels of the Peiping Daily's tough-toned article indicated the debate was far from over.

Driving Instructor Charged By Patrol

James Gilmore Nesbitt, driver training instructor at East Palestine High School, was arrested Wednesday on a charge of giving adult driving instruction without a license.

Nesbitt allegedly gave seven lessons last summer to Mrs. Ann Lange of 671 Alice St., East Palestine, for a fee of $20. The Patrol said the last lesson was given on or about Aug. 25.

Nesbitt was scheduled to receive a hearing before Judge Earl Spalding in the County Court at East Palestine.

BICYCL E IS STOLEN

Forest Lane of 448 Aetna St. reported to police that his bicycle was stolen sometime between 5 and 5:30 p.m. Wednesday from the sidewalk next to McBanes Drug Store at E. State St. and N. Lundy Ave.

Hanover Township Ruritans To Sponsor Lighting Contest

Hanover Township Ruritan Club will sponsor a Christmas lighting contest for residents in Hanover Township and vicinity. Prizes will be offered for the best decorated exterior and the best decorated doorway.

Entry blanks will soon be available in business establishments in the district. Chairman of the contest is Karl Stoudt of New Garden. He will be assisted by Henry Loudon, Arthur Kibler, Bill Leatherberry, all of Hanoverton, and Dave Freshey of RD, East Rochester.

Plans for the undertaking were made at Monday night's club meeting in the New Garden Methodist Church. Five new members of the organization are Harvey Grubbs of Kensington, Joe Marra, Peter Marra and Paul Jakubowski, all of Summitville, and George Dickson of Hanoverton.

Don Hepp, case worker for the Columbiana County Welfare Department, was guest speaker. He discussed the work of the department in connection with 215 children being cared for in the county.

Mr. Hepp also spoke in behalf of the drive now in progress to raise $1,600 to provide toys and clothing for the children for Christmas. The Ruritan Club agreed to sponsor the fund drive in the Hanover Township area.

Snow

Mayor Vincent and members of the Streets Committee of City Council set up emergency headquarters in City Hall Saturday morning to work out a schedule for clearing E. State St. The Red Cross utilized the Memorial Building as emergency quarters to aid transients trapped by the big snow. In the next few days, more than 100 persons passing through the city were to take advantage of the Red Cross shelter.

Others who didn't take advantage of the Memorial Building setup jammed hotels. Hotel Metzger was completely full and Hotel Lape, with a normal quota of 50, had approximately 100 customers. When hotel employes couldn't make it to work, the guests simply served themselves.

WHEN THE STORM was at its height, on Friday, the fire department and the medical profession's devotion to duty helped avert an uncomfortable situation at Salem City Hospital, which at this of all times had an above-average number of patients. The fire department put its trucks to use to transport medical supplies, food and nurses to the hospital, while two physicians and those nurses already on duty remained overnight to help out.

By recruiting substitutes who lived nearby, the post office, true to its promise that ". . the mail must get through," had a full crew on duty, but not enough mail came through to justify delivery. On Friday, only two sacks of mail were received — one each from a pair of trains that had managed to trudge through the city at a bare 30-mile-per-hour clip. The Salem News carriers also managed to make their appointed rounds.

Telephone and electrical service remained about normal throughout the holocaust of white stuff. Officials at Bell Telephone Co. and Ohio Edison reported few wire emergencies. When a call came through for repairs, it could only be acknowledged because service trucks were snowbound.

WHEN IT CAME TIME to dig out from underneath, city employes and countless volunteers struck back at the "white giant" with a hardy community fervor. Although it was still snowing Saturday morning, the city and citizenry pitched in to the battle with full force. Many more persons than equipment the city had available were on hand.

At 8:30 p.m. Saturday, E. State St. had been re-opened and numerous vehicles, including several tractor-trailers, had been towed out of the area Sunday morning, W. State St. and Lincoln and Ellsworth Aves. had been opened to the city limits.

While road crews were hard at work, members of the Allied Veterans Council of Salem were busily clearing sidewalks and shoveling out fire hydrants in case they were needed. Fortunately, no fire calls were received.

By Monday, three days after the storm had hit in force, the city was creeping back to normalcy. Most stores had reopened and most industries were set to go back on full schedule Tuesday.

Salem wasn't the only city to get hit that Thanksgiving. Most of Ohio and the eastern part of the nation were also sruck by the blizzard. Cities with comparable or greater snowfalls in the state included Canton, Youngstown, Massillon, Cleveland, Newark, Athens, Ashtabula and Conneaut.

Hoodlum

called police, who visited Kelly's rental agency.

While officers checked the items he offered for rental, Dackin slipped out of the store and hasn't been seen since.

However, it wasn't until the goods were traced to Hinsdale recently that the entire strange tale was pieced together.

The story was disclosed Wednesday.

Police records show that Dackin was sentenced to Mansfield Reformatory in 1922 after shooting a Lima bakery owner and robbing him of $19.

He escaped from Mansfield Reformatory in 1923 and was arrested a year later in Detroit for an armed robbery attempt.

He was sent back to Ohio Penitentiary.

Violence

sioner, L. B. Sullivan, tried unsuccessfully several weeks ago to get the public athletic board to deny use of Cramton Bowl to the Negro colleges. He explained he was fearful of violence because of racial tensions which, he said, date back to student demonstrations earlier this year.

The downtown parade which, along with the Tuskegee-Alabama State game has been a Thanksgiving Day fixture in Montgomery for more than 35 years, was canceled by the two schools because of the controversy.

Alabama State students staged a sit-in protest at the white lunchroom of the Montgomery courthouse last Feb. 25, and later paraded through the city in antisegregation protests. Nine of the students who participated in the lunchroom demonstration were expelled from school by the state board of education: 20 others were put on probation.

Violence exploded near the State Capitol March 6 when Negroes assembled for an announced prayer meeting. Hundreds of officers broke up the disturbance before it could erupt into a race riot.

Satellite

forecasting Thursday's weather. He said it was too soon to make predictions because such factors as the position of the satellite at the time of exposure cannot always be read off promptly in a way that would allow immediate use of a given picture.

He said: "If a hurricane had been developing this morning and had not yet been picked up, it might be picked up by the satellite."

The indication was that day-to-day detailed forecasts such as, "Will it rain tomorrow?" will have to await more advanced satellites. But any major storm weather might be analyzed swiftly even with Tiros II pictures.

The satellite is an improved version of the highly successful Tiros I vehicle which orbited last April and relayed 22,952 cloud cover pictures before its instruments went dead after 78 days. No attempt was made to predict the weather with Tiros I. But comparison of the photos with ground observations showed it was possible to relate certain cloud formations to cold fronts, storms and other weather phenomena.

ing Dec. 23. In addition, stores will be open Saturday, Dec. 17, and Wednesday, Dec. 21, until 9.

Regular 5 p.m. closing hours will be observed Tuesday, Dec. 20 and Saturday, Dec. 24.

Today's Thanksgiving edition of The Salem News carries hundreds of gift suggestions by local merchants. The holiday paper, which required 100 miles of newsprint, 30 inches wide, will reach every home in the northern Columbiana, southern Mahoning district.

E. Liverpool Man Fined For Digging In Road

LISBON — Michael Pusateri, 35, of East Liverpool received a suspended $100 fine at a hearing Wednesday before County Judge James L. MacDonald on a charge of excavating though a township road without first securing a permit.

Charges were filed by Harry Taggert, a Yellow Creek Township trustee. Pusateri pleaded guilty to the charge. He agreed to repair the road each time it sinks, Judge MacDonald said.

Only Tin Foil In Radar Test

Luminous Sight In Sky Causes Alarm In East, Midwest

By The Associated Press

A huge, luminous sight in the sky over much of the Midwest and East Wednesday was a shower of tin foil dropped by jet aircraft in a radar reception test. Aviation and weather experts agreed on that.

The traffic control center of Detroit's Metropolitan Airport and the Detroit Weather Bureau said it was this foil falling from more than 25,000 feet through rays of the early morning sun over Southeastern Michigan that excited thousands.

Calls flooded newspaper and police offices after a mysterious glow was sighted between 6:15 and 6:30 a.m.

Some viewers thought it was caused by a rocket, others a satellite of flying saucer. All agreed that it was exceptionally bright.

Observers in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and New York also reported seeing the mysterious sight in the skies.

Keith Muir, assistant chief of Detroit's air control center, said the foil was dropped by jet planes on a test of its radar jamming properties.

American and British planes used tin foil as a jammer of German radar in World War II.

Muir's men had advance notice of the foil drop. He said the Air Force carries on such experiments several times a month "for practice and to check the accuracy of local radar reception."

The glow in the sky—some persons said it had a "flaming tail"—aroused all sorts of conjecture.

The satellite Tiros II, man-made weather moon, was launched from Cape Canaveral at 6:13 a.m. today.

However, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Washington said it was impossible for Tiros II to have been the mysterious object.

Still others thought the object might have been a research balloon which was launched before dawn from Sioux Falls, S.D.

The balloon, a University of Michigan creation 16 stories in height, had equipment meant for use with Tiros II in weather studies.

However, university officials said the balloon could not possibly have caused the reported "glow." The balloon went to an altitude o 110,000 feet and was to the wes of Michigan, where the glow was reported to the east.

Offers Counter Measures

West Germany Rejects U. S. Requests for Aid Payments

PARIS (AP)—Rebuffed in West Germany, the United States turned to international trade and higher defense spending by its allies as sources of relief from the drain on the dollar.

A high-level U.S. mission flew in from Bonn, West Germany, Wednesday and opened a series of talks.

Heading the mission are U.S. Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson, Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon, and Asst. Defense Secretary John N. Irwin II.

In Bonn, Anderson and Dillon were turned down when they asked the West German government to start paying an annual $600 million to help cover the costs of maintaining U.S. forces in West Germany.

The West Germans offered several other measures — including investments in underdeveloped areas, trade concessions and arms purchases in the United States which the U.S. mission considered insufficient.

A U.S. spokesman said Anderson and Dillon would concentrate their attention while here on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the proposed new Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).

In line with their effort to save gold and dollars, this probably meant that Anderson and Dillon are investigating the chances of boosting U.S. exports to Europe when the new OECD is established. This would improve the U.S. world trade position and stem some of the outflow of gold.

The other possibility would be to revise the present system of splitting basic defense costs among NATO member-states to shift some of the burden of joint expenditures from the United States to some of the more affluent allies.

Anderson and Dillon met with French Finance Minister Wilfred Baumgartner. American sources did not disclose the subject of the talks.

It seemed unlikely that Washington would be asking France for financial help in paying for U.S. bases in France but a request for a more liberal French policy on the import of American goods was a possibility.

Shortly after their arrival, Anderson, Dillon and Irwin met with W. Randolph Burgess, U.S. ambassador to NATO; and Amory Houghton, ambassador to France, to discuss NATO and French financial problems.

They then met with Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, to discuss NATO costs and American-European trade.

U. S. steelmaking capacity now stands at 148.6 million tons.

Post Office to Hire Extra Help

With the Christmas "rush" just around the corner, Salem Post Office is hiring 35 substitute workers, according to Supt. of Mails Ray Reasbeck.

The additional help, 21 carriers and 14 clerks, will be put to work sometime between Dec. 12 and 15, "according to how the rush hits."

The Post Office has rented the former Miller-Holzwarth building at 196 W. State St. to serve as a mail and parcel post annex. He stated the annex would not be open to the public, but used only as a loading point for trucks and carriers. It will open about Dec. 11.

The Post Office anticipates keeping its windows open on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons during December to help combat the huge volume of mail and parcels expected. Reasbeck said an attempt is being made to have the office and windows open on Sunday afternoons, although at present "we have been ordered not to open or deliver on Sundays." He added he is "hopeful the ban will be rescined," so deliveries may be made on Sundays and allow Post Office personnel to keep pace with the volumes of mail to be handled.

No plausible Christmas increase in volume has been noted as yet.

O'Neill to Be Sworn In on Wednesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Tentative plans call for former Gov. C. William O'Neill to be sworn as a judge of the Ohio Supreme Court next Wednesday by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt.

O'Neill defeated Judge John W. Peck of Cincinnati in the Nov. election for the unexpired term of the late Judge James G. Stewart, also of Cincinnati.

Peck, a Democrat, was appointed by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle last year to serve until a successor was elected.

The seating of O'Neill, a Republican, will return the political division of the court to favor the GOP 4 to 3.

27,511 New Jobless Claims Are Reported

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Combine the populations of Martins Ferry (about 13,200) and Ashland (14,300), and you have approximately the number—27,511 — of new claims for unemployment benefits reported in the Nov. 13-19 week.

The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation said Wednesday that this compares with a weekly average of 21,395 in November 1959. Continuing claims this year totaled 139,473, compared with 90,936 in the same period last year.

Thanksgiving Day

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—What does Thanksgiving Day really mean to you?

It is one of the most American of holidays, older than the Republic, but the spirit behind it is eternal and has shone in every land, where every man has felt grateful to his Maker.

Sometimes, however, that feeling of divine appreciation is blurred by overindulgence and a lack of concern for others.

Here are a few quotations — from ancient and modern sources —that might have a meaning for many on this day:

"No duty is more urgent than that of returning thanks"—St. Ambrose.

"Thanksgiving for a former, doth invite God to bestow a second benefit"—Robert Herrick.

"Drive safely"—Highway sign.

"Gratitude is not only the greatest of all virtues, but the parent of all the others"—Cicero.

"Mama, with this year's wishbone I wished that next year's turkey would have enough wishbones for everybody. Was that a good wish?"—a small U. S. child.

"Eat not to dullness: drink not to elevation."—Benjamin Franklin.

"Please, sir, May I have more?"—Oliver Twist.

"The happiness of the domestic fireside is the first boon of mankind; and it is well it is so, since it is that which is the lot of the mass of manknd."—Thomas Jefferson.

"Almighty God, Father of all mercies, we, Thine unworthy servants, do give Thee most humble and hearty thanks for all Thy goodness and loving-kindnes to us, and to all men."—Book of Common Prayer.

Ohio Farmers Hope for Early Action on New Wheat Program

WASHINGTON (AP) Ohio farmers may see early action in the new Congress on a crop that often figures importantly in their plans—wheat.

With a Democrat, John F. Kennedy, in the White House, the chances for the first new wheat program in years are regarded as fairly good.

Chief interest to them is what would happen to growers of wheat with 15 acres or less. These growers now are exempted from production controls.

It seems highly likely that they would be cut in the amount they could produce, beginning with the 1962 crop. A bill here by Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, to exempt from acreage limitation the red winter wheat grown in Ohio and other places is given hardly any chance at all.

Another consideration regarding farm legislation in general is that the Ohio Farm Bureau—easily the biggest farm group in the state—won't have the standing here it once did.

Both the Ohio Farm Bureau and its parent, the American Farm Bureau Federation, were oriented in favor of Republicans generally and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson in particular.

In the new Kennedy administration, the Farm Bureau will be pretty much on the outside. The competing National Farmers Union will no doubt have a lot more say here after January.

This organization's Ohio chairman, Joseph W. Fichter of Oxford, Ohio, says he is looking forward to fulfillment of Kennedy's pledges to raise farm income.

"The fact is that the shift to Kennedy away from Eisenhower was twice as great in the farm as in the industrial states," Fichter says.

Bomb, Not 'Boom,' Hit Sheriff's House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It was a bomb, not a boom, that hit Nishel Chevar's house, sheriff's deputies said Wednesday.

Chevar heard a loud noise Monday, but figured it was a sonic boom from a sound carrier-busting jet plane which was reported by other residents. But he investigated the next day and found metal fragments embedded in the siding of his house.

Deputies said the fragments came from an iron pipe filled with some kind of explosive. Little damage was done. They theorized Chevar might be the mistaken victim of a neighborhood feud.

School Administrators To Hear Legislators

State Representative Clarence Wetzel and newly-elected Representative J. Warren Bettis will discuss school problems which are expected to be brought up at the coming term of house of representatives at the regular meeting of the Columbiana County Administrators Discussion Group Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Salineville High School.

Lisbon Teachers' Show Attracts 600

LISBON — Approximately 600 attended the variety show of the Lisbon Teachers Assoc. Tuesday evening at the Lisbon High School gymnasium. Proceeds after expenses will be placed in the new Lisbon Teachers Assoc. and community scholarship fund. The program included:

Dick Roberts accordian solos.

A comedy skit, "Over the Back Fence," starring Miss Della Wetzel, McKinley principal; Miss Grace Todd, Miss Nettie McPherson, Mrs. Arlen Homan, Mrs. Mary Gee, Mrs. Twila Hochmann, John Lewis and Howard Lehman.

The 4-H square dancers, with Tom Rudibock as caller, were Carol Bailey, Rhonda Hill, Martha Bricker, Marian Boehnn, Bob John, Wayne Walton, Bill Skeels and Jim Skeels.

A skit, "Newspaper Nightmare" had as its cast Mrs. Norma Nulf, Barry James, Gerald Chappell, Mrs. Amy Shattuck, Mrs. Grace McPherson, Harold Windram and Mrs. Christine Chappell.

A play "All Mixed Up," was presented by faculty members, Miss Betty Hinman, Mrs. Bernice Robb, Mrs. Janet Baker, Mrs. Genevieve Sexton, James Kennedy and Barry James.

John Lewis served as master of ceremonies.

In and About Our Schools

Junior High School

Students at Junior High School held a Thanksgiving program Wednesday in the school auditorium. Rev. Bruce Milligan was guest speaker.

The Ninth Grade Choir, directed by Kenyon French, opened the program with the singing of "Prayer of Thanksgiving." This was the first appearance of the choir members in their robes.

Lee Schnell, presiding at the program, introduced Judy Elevick, Polly Lease and Debbie Thomas, seventh grade English students, who led their classmates in the choral recitation of the Thanksgiving poem, "The Landing of Our Pilgrim Fathers in New England." Lee Schnell gave the Prayer of Thanksgiving to the Student Body.

Pair Waives Hearing On Kidnap Charge

Anthony Pizzuto, 24, and Peter Rizzo, 21, were returned to Allegheny County jail under $50,000 bond each pending grand jury action Jan. 29.

Dr. Ralph M. Rea said the pair abducted him at gunpoint in Steubenville last Wednesday and drove him to the vicinity of nearby Imperial, Pa., where he managed to escape.

The doctor said the men told him they wanted him to treat a wounded friend, but authorities believe this was untrue and are still seeking a motive for the alleged kidnapping.

LANDS A BIG ONE

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Mrs Bettie Sears of suburban El Cajon, who weighs less than 140 pounds, caught a 419-pound fish.

It was a sea bass, taken by Mrs. Sears from a sports fishing boat near the Coronado Islands, 20 miles southwest of here. Sports fishing officials here said it was the largest fish of record caught with medium tackle.

Texas-Texas A&M Tilt Highlights Grid Action Today

Game To Be Televised In Salem Area Starting at 2:30 p. m.

Two Southern Conference Frays Also Spice Holiday Football Card

By JACK CLARY

Turkey dinners with all the trimmings may be the order of the day in the nation's households but the Thanksgiving Day college gridiron menu is offering only an appetizer or two of traditional games prior to Saturday's wind-up program.

The big one is the Texas-Texas A&M game at Austin which could decide the former's bowl future. The Longhorns (6-3) have been prominently mentioned as a "home club" for the Nov. 17 Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston.

This is one you can watch beginning at 2:30 p.m. EST (ABC-TV).

There are a couple of Southern Conference games and one in the Ivy League. Southern Conference champion Virginia Military (7-1-1) plays Virginia Tech (5-4) while William & Mary (2-7) meets Richmond (2-6-1). Penn and Cornell, both 2-7, close down the Ivy's shop in Philadelphia's Franklin Field.

Elsewhere, Denver meets Colorado State U., Mississippi Southern goes against Chatanooga and Wichita faces West Texas State.

Philadelphia is the football capital on Saturday when Army meets Navy before 102,000 fans in Philadelphia Stadium and millions more around the country via television (ABC-TV, kickoff 1:30 p.m. EST).

To beat Army (6-2-1) is incentive enough for the Middies, ranked seventh with an 8-1 record, but a victory also could mean playing in either the Cotton or Orange bowls Jan. 2 or New York's Gotham Bowl Dec. 10.

Mississippi, ranked third in the latest Associated Press poll, goes after the Southeastern Conference title and hope to impress The AP's board of experts that next week will pick the national champion. Ole Miss (8-0-1) meets Mississippi State (2-5-1) and must put on an almost unforgettable performance to take away the No. 1 spot among the nation's colleges from Minnesota, finished for the regular season.

Auburn (No. 8) plays bowl-minded Alabama (7-1-1) in another SEC game while Florida (7-2) closes its season against Miami, Fla., (5-3) with Gator Bowl waiting for an OK to match the Gators against Baylor.

Baylor (7-2) plays Rice (7-2) and the latter must win to tie for the Southwest Conference title with Arkansas. A victory could also send the Owls to the Sugar Bowl. Arkansas is the Cotton Bowl host since it beat Rice.

Packers Face 'Must' Game With Lions

DETROIT (AP)—Victory is almost a must for both the Green Bay Packers and the Detroit Lions when they clash in Detroit's annual Thanksgiving Day football game.

The Lions need the win to prove they are better than in 1959 and to rub out the sting of a 28-9 beating the Packers gave them in their National Football League season opener.

The Packers, favored by six points, must beat the Lions if they hope to overtake the Western Division's leading Baltimore Colts. Second-place Green Bay muffed a chance to tie the Colts for first last Sunday when it was edged 33-31 by Los Angeles. The loss dropped Green Bay (5-3) a full game behind the Colts (6-2).

The holiday game will be televised (CBS) nationally, starting at noon (EST). The game is the only one on the NFL Thanksgiving Day docket.

The Sunday schedule will see fourth-place San Francisco at Baltimore for a go-around with the winningest team in the Western Division; Dallas at Chicago; Washington at Pittsburgh; New York at Philadelphia, and Cleveland at St. Louis.

Kansas' Bert Coan Is 'Back of Week'

LALWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — "I was ready to bite nails to win this one," said Kansas sophomore halfback Bert Coan just after he led the Jayhawks to a crushing 23-7 victory over Missouri for the Big Eight Conference Football title last week.

Coan, a 6-foot-4, 205-pounder with both power and speed, was so ready in fact he scored two touchdowns and piled up more rushing yardage than the entire Missouri team, unbeaten, untied and ranked No. 1 nationally going into the game.

Wedesday, Coan was rewarded with the honor of Associated Press back of the week for his brilliant performance.

"It's the greatest honor I have ever received," Coan said from his home at Pasadena, Tex., where he is spending the Thanksgiving holidays.

Coan, Kansas' leading rusher this season with an average of more than 6 yards per crack, termed the Missouri game the best of the season.

Mickey Wright Paces Lady Golfers

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Wright of San Diego and Louise Suggs of Atlanta dominated the ladies professional golf tour this year, LPGA season-end records showed Wednesday.

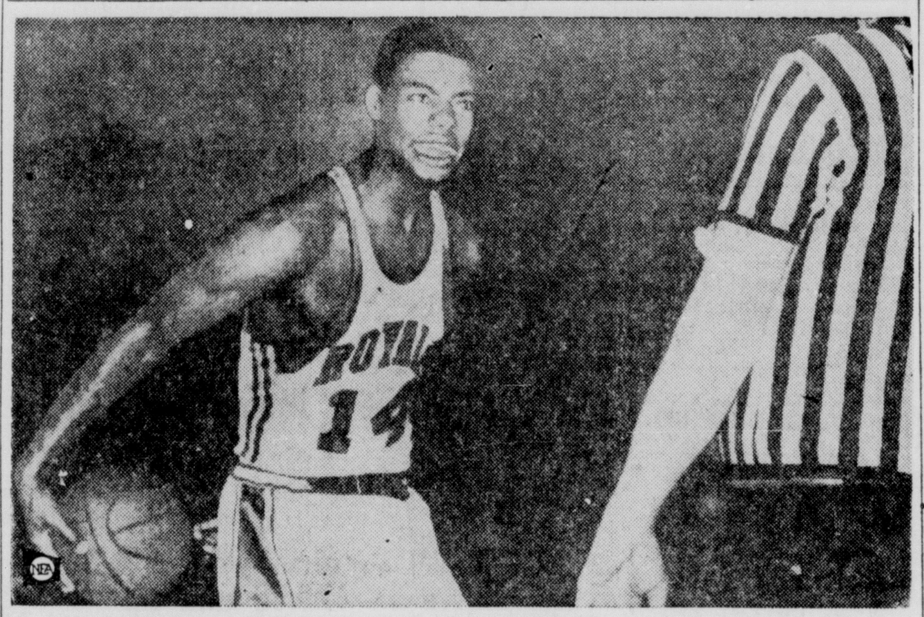

Miss Wright won the Vare trophy with a record per-round average of 73.25 strokes in 21 tournaments. Miss Suggs, the runner up in the Vare competition with a 73.69 average for 21 tournaments, led the money winners with $16,892.12 with Miss Wright in second place with $16,380.03.

Johnny Bower of the Toronto Maple leafs holds the American Hockey League record for shutouts. He turned in 45 as a goalie with Cleveland and Providence.

Page 16 THE SALEM, OHIO, NEWS THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1960

I DON'T WANNA! — Oscar Robertson registers emotion holding the basketbball behind his back and refusing to give it to an official in a game against Philadelphia at Cincinnati Gardens. The Big O's reluctance to surrender came when the 24-second whistle sounded.

Royals' Owners Reap Rewards

18 Rookies Click In NBA, But None Like Cincy's Big O

By HARRY GRAYSON
Newspaper Enterprise Sports Ed.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Little Maurice Podoloff sat behind the desk in the lofty offices of the National Basketball Association in the Empire State Building, thumbs in vest.

The NBA president was waxing enthusiastic about the Royals, spinning around the fabulous recruit, Oscar Robertson, drawing more than 9,000 paid on election night in Cincinnati.

"You gotta have a attraction," beamed Podoloff. You gotta have cards to get customers in any sport or form of show business, professional or amateur. You need aces more than you do in poker. Some of the finest performers don't draw. They lack crowd appeal. They still talk of Babe Ruth, don't they? And little Albie Booth at Yale."

Thomas E. Wood and J. Thomas Grace lost more than $100,000 while waiting for Robertson to be graduated from the University of Cincinnati. They are now reaping the rewards for their patience and fortitude. Of the Royals' first five games at Cincinnati Gardens only the televised skirmish on Saturday failed to draw what was a record turnout there. They played before more people in their first four outings in the Rhineland than they did in the entire first half of last season.

SOME 50 ROOKIES tried out with the pros for this campaign. Eighteen are still around if Bob Boozer of the Royals, Syracuse's Swede Halbrook, Detroit's Don Ohl and George Lee and St. Louis' Fred Lacour can be included. They saw service in the National Industrial League. Halbrook, who stuck out at Oregon State before moving on to the Wichita Vickers, is now the allest athlete in the major league at seven-three and the heftiest.

Among the peagreens with the Detroit Pistons is Jackie Moreland. The manner in which North Carolina State recruited this six-foot-eight sharpshooter several years ago stirred up a national scandal and the prized package wound up at Louisiana Tech.

NBA clubs will carry 11 instead of 10 first-year men this trip. This enables coaches to rotate rookies and is by way of preparing talent for Chicago and Pittsburgh outfits which join the money men a year hence.

THERE ARE STICKOUTS among this year's pack of beginners, of course, but none quite like Oscar Robertson, who brought his University of Cincinnati co-captain, Ralph Davis, with him. The six-eight Boozer, who made a name for himself at Kansas State, completes a triumvirate which has given the Royals a tremendous shot in the arm—on the floor and at the bucks office.

Jerry West of West Virginia, now with Los Angeles, perhaps is the closest thing to Robertson among the rookies. Like Robertson, West is the complete player without a weakness, but the Mountaineer isn't as big and strong as the six-four-and-a-half, 200-pound Big O, and doesn't score as well.

NBA attendance increased 19 per cent last season with the arrival of Wilt the Stilt Chamberlain in Philadelphia trunks. Oscar Robertson has early foot as an equally glittering turnstile magnate.

And as Maurice Podoloff stresses, there is no other way of creating instant people.

Several Changes In Elite Group

Ohio U. Retains First Place In Small College Rankings

By The Associated Press

Ohio University's formidable Bobcats closed out their all-winning season with a 48-6 trouncing of Southern Illinois and maintained their hold on first place in the Associated Press' rankings of small college football teams.

In the next-to-last poll of the season, the Bobcats (10-0) received four first place votes from the nationwide panel of eight selectors and a total of 57 points on the usual 10 for first, 9 for second, etc.

Lenoir Rhyne (9-0) which closes its season today against Catawba, was second again with 42 points but there were a number of changes in the elite group.

Florida A & M, and Fresno State, which were third and sixth a week ago, suffered their first defeats last Saturday and fell clear out of the top ten.

Iowa State Teachers (9-0), which finished its season the week before, advanced to third place while Bowling Green (8-1), beaten only by Ohio U., moved up to fourth.

The other members of the first ten included Whitworth (9-0), fifth, Muskingum (9-0) seventh, Humboldt State (9-0), eighth, and West Chester, (Pa.) Teachers tenth.

Lenoir Rhyne, Southern U., and Humboldt State are the only members of the top ten with unfinished schedules. Each has a game to play. Humboldt State plays Lewis and Clark today while Southern U. winds up against Prairie View on Saturday.

The final poll will be taken after Saturday's games.

The top teams with first place votes and won-lost records in partheneses:

1.	Ohio U. (4) (10-0)	57
2.	Lenoir Rhyne (9-0)	42
3.	Iowa St. Tchrs' (1) (9-0)	34
4.	Bowling Green (8-1)	29
5.	Whitworth (9-0)	27
6.	Southern U. (La.) (9-0)	24

Howard Tabbed 'Rookie of Year'

Los Angeles Slugger Wins by Landslide

BOSTON (AP) Frank Howard, the strong boy outfielder of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Wednesday was named National League rookie of the year.

Howard, 24, of Columbus, Ohio, received 12 of the 22 votes cast by a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Others receiving votes were: Herrera, Philadelphia Phillies' second baseman, 4; Art Mahaffey, Phils' pitcher, 3; Ron Santo, Chicago Cubs third baseman, 2, and Tommy Davis, Dodger outfielder, one.

Howard, a lusty 6 feet 7, 245-pound athlete, was a scourge of minor league pitching and there was some speculation as to how successful he would be against more skillful major league hurling.

Howard began the 1960 season with the Dodgers' Spokane farm.

He was recalled after the first 26 Pacific Coast League games in which he flogged that loop's pitching for a .371 average.

He took over a regular berth in the Dodger outfield and proceeded to hit 23 home runs while attaining a .268 average. He drove in 77 runs in the 117 games.

North Carolina's Hawkins Named Lineman of Week

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

North Carolina upset sixth-ranked Duke last Saturday and probably knocked the Blue Devils out of the Orange Bowl. For his part in that 7-6 surprise, Rip Hawkins, North Carolina captain and center, Wednesday was named lineman of the week by The Associated Press.

The 220-pound senior from Cowan, Tenn., played a key role as line-backer as the Tar Heels halted the Duke end sweeps. He was in on numerous tackles even though he sat out a short time in the second half because of an injury.

"He played a great game," said North Carolina Coach Jim Hickey. "He was in on a great number of tackles. He has played outstanding ball for us in game after game this season."

Not only did Hawkins gain the national lineman of the week award in The Associated Press voting but he was named the lineman of the week in the Atlantic Coast Conference for the second straight week.

Two other centers—Roy McKasson of Washington's Rose Bowl-bound Huskies and E. J. Holub of Texas Tech—were high up in the voting for the lineman honor.

McKasson made six tackles against Washington State, intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble.

Holub played perhaps the best game of his career in a losing cause against Cotton Bowl-bound Arkansas, the 6-foot-4, 217-pound senior—who earlier this year was lineman of the week—played 46 minutes and was credited with 28 tackles, 18 of them unassisted.

NEW MANAGER—Bob Scheffing will manage the Detroit Tigers in 1961. He formerly managed the Chicago Cubs, a team he had played for.

3 Special Awards Planned

Salem Football Squad To Be Feted Dec. 3

In addition to the regular varsity and reserve letter awards, three special individual trophies will be presented at the Salem High Football Banquet on Saturday, Dec. 3, at the Memorial Building.

The Salem Booster Club, which sponsors the banquet annually, will present a trophy to the most valuable lineman. The top lineman will be determined in a secret vote by members of the backfield.

The Salem News Trophy will be presented to the most valuable player, as determined in a secret vote of the entire squad.

JOE JULIAN won the most valuable lineman award and shared the most valuable player award with Fred Phillis last year. Tom Dahms won the K of C trophy. All three gridders went on to college—Julian to Ohio U., Phillis to Bowling Green, and Dahms to Wooster—where they further distinguished themselves on the gridiron this fall.

Members of the Booster's banquet committee are Don DeJane, Paul Heim, Dave Brisken, Tom Nedelka, Bob Allison, Calvin Filler, Walter DeJane, Dick Loutzenhiser, Clair Leeper, Ken McClaskey, Martin Debnar, Peter Lambert and A. P. Schmauch.

Don DeJane is chairman of the decorating committee. His assistants are Mr. and Mrs. Walt DeJane, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Debnar, Mr. and Mrs. Ken McClaskey, Peter Lambert, A. P. Schmauch, Paul Heim and C. F. Tomlinson.

JOHN MICHELSON, head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, will be principal speaker at the banquet. Former Salem High Coach Earle Bruce will serve as master of ceremonies.

The Rev. Bruce Milligan, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will give the invocation. Booster President Walter DeJane will greet the guests.

Salem High Athletic Director Fred Cope will introduce the 1960 Football Queen Rosemarie Shoe and her court and the cheerleaders.

A roast beef dinner will be served.

Tickets for the banquet are on sale at Fisher News Agency, Heddleston's Pharmacy, Hoppes Tire Service or from any Booster Club member. The dinner starts at 6:30 p.m.

Salem Booster Club Won't Meet Tonight

The regular weekly meeting of the Salem Booster Club will not be held tonight due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

President Walt DeJane requests that all persons selling tickets for the Salem High Football Banquet be ready to make a report at the club's next meeting on Thursday, Dec. 1.

HARVARD NAMES CAPTAIN

BOSTON (AP)—Junior end Alex W. (Pete) Hart of Lancaster, Ohio, has been elected captain of the 1961 Harvard football team by his teammates. A preseason injury forced the 201-pounder to miss six of Harvard' nine games during the 1960 season.

Army Hopes to Turn Bellino Inside

Cadets Must Halt Navy Back From End Runs in Service Test

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Whether you attend Saturday's Army-Navy football game, or look on from a living room easy chair, there will be a number of players to watch. But the one most likely to tear up the turf at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium is Navy's Joseph Michael Bellino of Winchester, Mass.

This will be the last game for Bellino, unless Navy comes out on top and accepts a bowl invitation. Bellino is regarded at the U. S. Naval Academy as its greatest football player since 1934, and with good reason. That was the season Buzz Borries ran wild.

In last year's Army game, the 5-foot-9 Midshipman became the first Navy man ever to score three touchdowns in the annual service classic. He scored from 46 yeards, 15 and 1. He marked up 115 yards in 25 carries, caught a pass, intercepted another and returned a kickoff 28 yards.

THAT'S WHY he is a marked man with Army. Coach Dale Hall, his pride still wounded because of last year's 43-12 shellacking, has assigned one of his aides, Chuck Gottfied, to tell the Cadets all about Bellino and his Middie teammates who were unbeaten until they bowed to Duke, 19-10, on Nov. 5.

Gottfriend is Army end coach and his task will be to impress the Army varsity that it must turn Bellino toward the inside, such as Duke did. Even then Bellino made 46 yards in 11 first half carries. In nine second half attempts Little Joe made only 16 yards. He had 13 TDs in Navy's first seven games this fall to equal his scoring of two previous seasons.

He is held in such high regard at Annapolis that for the first time in memory, Navy has printed an 8 by 10 flyer. It says: "Joe Bellino—Navy's All-America halfback." It includes quotes from coaches, writers and officials. The report is a glowing one.

"He is the best football player I have ever seen," says Wayne Hardin, who like Army's Hall, is in his second season as a head coach.

IN EIGHT GAMES, Bellino gained 551 yards rushing, 97 passing, 97 on punt returns, 240 on kickoff returns and 256 on pass receiving for a total of 1,241. He also punted 10 times for 467 yards. He does everything.

However, there will be other stars to watch in this game. For instance fullback Joe Matalavage, Navy captain from Mahanoy City, Pa., is the "Mr. Inside" of the attack. He also catches passes.

Hal Spooner, Navy quarterback from Williamsport, Pa., has come into his own as a passer this season. On his first 83 efforts he completed 50 for 643 yards and five TDs. Frank Visted of Smithtown, N. Y., is another Navy man to watch. He is one of the best centers in the east.

FOR ARMY, the big surprise could be Dick Eckert, a 19-year-old quarterback from Carlisle, Pa. Sophomores, as a rule, see little action in the Navy game but Eckert may be the exception. He is a double threat quarterback for he can pass the ball or run with it.

When Army appeared to stall against Syracuse, Eckert went into the game, broke up a huddle and called his own option play. He faked to fullback Al Rushatz, feigned a pitchout to George Kirschenbauer then cut sharply inside Syracuse's left end for the winning tally. It was only a two-yard play but it was a masterpiece of deception.

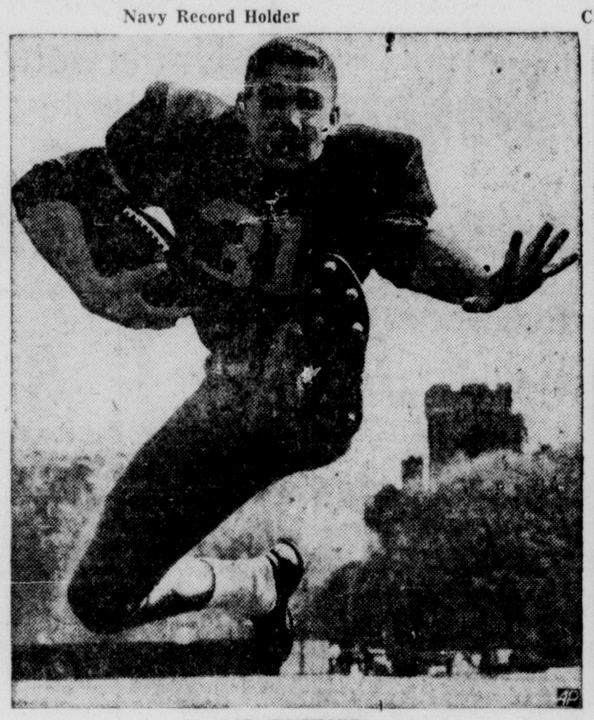

Rushatz made 87 yards in 22 rushes against Syracuse. This 190-pounder from Allentown, Pa., has another year. He has been Army's workhorse. In the first eight games, this star wrestler went 531 yards in 124 carries for a 4.25 average.

If Army should pull an upset look for No. 1 quarterback Tom Blanda to do it with his toe. He has kicked four field goals between 22 and 29 yards and made 15 placements in eight games. Another Army surprise could be Roger Zailskas of Waterbury, Conn. He has been hobbled by injuries the past two seasons but is about the fastest runner in the Cadet backfield.

For instance, in the National

Doubles recently, my pushaway was out of time with my other movements and I rolled a dismal 160. But when the trigger is hot, I'm hot too, as I was a couple of years ago when I rolled two consecutive perfect games.

My big trouble with the pushaway is that I tend to push the ball off to my right.

When my bowling is not good, I concentrate on straightening out the pushaway — and my game usually straightens out, too.

Local Wrestling Show Tonight Opens at 8:30

Tonight's wrestling program at the Hi-Neighbor Dance Hall will get underway at 8:30 with four area amateurs tangling in a tag team match.

Mike Barkett of Sharon, Pa., and John Daley of Columbiana will pair up against Mike Mudger of Leetonia and Hayward Whitehair of Salem. All four of these boys are proteges of professional Frank "Toar" Julian of Salem, who is also on tonight's program.

Following the amateur bout, Chris Papas, 205, of Greece will meet Tony Gardinia, 220, of Chicago for one fall with a 30-minute limit. Billy O'Toole, 225, of New York City, will face Ed Faieta, 300, of Steubenville in another one fall, 30-minute bout. In the third pro bout of the evening, Julian will tangle with Leon Smith 210 of Cleveland.

The feature, scheduled to get underway at approximately 9.45 p.m., will have all six professionals getting back into the ring together in a battle royal

Lowly Redskins Are Runners-Up

St. Louis Cards Pace NFL In Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, who beat the Washington Redskins 26-14 last Sunday, turned in the best one day performance of the season and moved into first place in total offense in the National Football League.

Statistics from the NFL Wednesday showed the Cardinals, after 515 net yards gained against Washington, with a nine - game total of 3,276 yards. Of this, 1,725 came from rushing and 1,551 from passing.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, third last week, took over second place with 2,987 yards, 1,110 on rushes and 1,877 from passes. Pittsburgh also has played nine games.

Baltimore's world champion Colts, leading the Western Division had an open date last week, and dropped from first to third place total offense. The Colts, who have played only eight games, still rate No. 1 in passing with 1,943 yards thanks to the aim of Johnny Unitas. With 1,038 yards rushing, the Colt yardage total is 2,981.

Green Bay ranks fourth with 2,810 yards, and Philadelphia, top team in the Eastern Conference race, is fifth with 2,755 yards.

In addition to St. Louis and Pittsburgh, Dallas and Los Angeles also have played nine games. The other teams have played eight.

For the fourth straight week, St Louis is No. 1 in rushing with 1,725 yards. Green Bay has 1,498, Cleveland 1,359, Chicago 1,155 and San Francisco 1,153.

Pittsburgh is second in passing with 1,877, Philadelphia has 1,809, St. Louis 1,551, and New York 1,522. Cleveland has completed 67.3 per cent of its passes.

Baltimore is the top scoring club with 238 points, and Green Bay has 233, followed by Cleveland's 228. The Colts have permitted the fewest points, 140.

Westville

Elizabeth Ehrhart Missionary Society of Westville Congregational Christian Church met Monday at the home of Mrs. Ernest Dalton of Westville Lake.

Mrs. Rolland Smith had devotionals on Thanksgiving. Officers were elected: President, Mrs. Ernest Dalton; vice president, Mrs. William Iddings; secretary, Mrs. Jessie Case; treasurer. A Chritmas exchange will be held at the home of Mr. Hugh McCracken in December.

Mrs. Rolland Smith gave a report of the workshop held in Alliance and Louisville recently.

Christian Crusaders class of Westville Congregational Christian Church was entertained Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Heestand. Mr. and Mrs. James Weizenecker of Sebring were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Kinser received word of a granddaughter born to their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kinser of Salem, at the Salem Clinic on Saturday.

Mrs. Myrtle Oesch of Berlin Center spent the weekend with Gladys and Rachel Oesch.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wuthrick attended the Rural Mail carriers meeting at Canfield.

HELPING HIS PASSER

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Mike Pecarovich, football coach at the University of San Diego, says a new world will soon open up for Jan Chapman, his star passer.

"He's a fine passer but he can't see 20 yards," Pecarovich said.

Chapman throws on patterns, expecting his receivers to be there.

SIGNALS BY MORSE

DAVIDSON, N. C. (AP) — Coach Bill Dole of Davidson College has come up with what he calls a "rhythmical unrythmical snap signal."

He explains it this way:

"It's based on the Morse Code, dots and dashes. The first dot means set, the ball is snapped on a dash." The signals thus come out something like "Di-dah-dit."

Beaver Junior High To Play 13 Games

The Beaver Local Junior High basketball squad will open a 13-game schedule on Dec. 1 at Salineville.

Most of the boys have been playing together for three years or more and the Beavers expect a winning season.

The schedule includes two games apiece with Salineville, Chester, United, Newell and Fairfield-Waterford and one game each with East Liverpool Eastgate, New Cumberland and East Palestine.

SOME AUTOGRAPHS PAY

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Royalty checks for autographed baseballs, a commercial project in which all major leaguers participate, were handed out when the New York Yankees made their last 1960 visit here. Each Yankee received $125.12. Earlier the Kansas City Athletics received $6.08 each.

WINNER, HANDS DOWN — Giordano Campari launched a wild haymaker that pulled him into a leapfrog act over a ducking Mario Vecchiatto in Milan. Campari regained his feet and went on to win the Italian lightweight championship by better than a fair margin.

Most of Teams Opposed to New Plan

National League May Not Go Along With Interleague Play

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—An American League spokesman and Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick Wednesday indicated it appears unlikely the National League will go along with a nine-team, interleague schedule offered as an alternative to immediate American League entry into Los Angeles.

The AL source told the Associated Press: "They'll (the National League) never go for it. Walter O'Malley would have to be a supersalesman to sell it—the others don't want it."

Frick made no such out-and-out statement, but did announce he has called a meeting next week to draft legislation which would enable the American League to set up shop in Los Angeles next year as a 10-team league.

The American League unloaded its startling one-year proposal Tuesday night, after failing to reach any agreement with O'Malley, owner of the National League's Los Angeles club, over its proposed invasion of the West Coast territory.

Under the alternate plan, the AL said it would forget about putting a club in Los Angeles until 1962—O'Malley's main demand in negotiations—and would operate in 1961 as a nine-team league with its new Washington franchise, if the National League would add a team and play an interleague schedule.

The National, which turned down a nine-team interleague proposal a year ago, already has named two new franchises—Houston and New York—but neither was supposed to become an official member until 1962.

The AL source said O'Malley seems to be the only National Leaguer in favor of the alternative suggestion. A poll of available NL owners by the Associated Press also indicated such a feeling.

The stumbling block in the path to Los Angeles is baseball's Rule 1. It states that neither major league may move into a city occupied by the other without unanimous approval by both leagues.

An amendment appears to Frick to be the only solution.

AFL Football Fray On TV This Morning

NEW YORK (AP)—The Dallas Texans, contending for first place in the Western Division of the American Football League, take on the New York Titans of the Eastern Division Thursday morning in a national television game.

The holiday contest will start at 11 a.m. EST (ABC-TV) at the Polo Grounds.

Dallas is tied for second with Oakland, each with 5-5 records, and just one game behind the Los Angeles Chargers (6-4). Denver (4-6) is fourth.

New York and Buffalo are tied for third in the East with 4-6 records. Houston (7-3) is first and Boston (5-5)is second.

The rest of this week's league schedule is spread out. On Friday night the Houston Oilers and Boston Patriots tangle at Boston, and on Sunday Buffalo is at Denver and Oakland is at Los Angeles.

Salem Beats Fitch In Practice Tilt

This was Salem's second straight win in practice games. On Saturday, the Quakers defeated Cleveland Collinwood, 86-72. Another scrimmage scheduled Monday afternoon with Youngstown Chaney was called off.

ACES INTO WIND

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — A 40-mile an hour wind was blowing in her face.

The flag had been blown down by the wind so she didn't know the location of the cup.

But Mrs. Marge Pilch smacked the ball across a corner of a lake on the 18th hole of Cheyenne municipal golf course.

Family Christmas Gift Field Is Large This Year

MAN TO MAN, the gentlemen agree that an air conditioner such as the Thinline installed on a home's enclosed porch is a cool Christmas gift. The whole family appreciates the additional year-round living space made possible by this heat pump unit which cools in summer and heats in winter. (G-E)

A CHRISTMAS surprise that will delight the homemaker is a colorful, interchangeable front panel for dishwasher-dryer. Waste King offers these panels in many colors as well as in a natural wood finish. This is an economical way to alter the kitchen, hence a favorite gift from Pop.

IF THERE'S no fireplace with mantel in your home, install a shelf, supported by brackets, for hanging the Santa Claus stocking. If you give your daughter a portable television for watching her own favorite programs, install the shelf at a low level. It can be raised as she grows.

EVEN little Susie approves the smooth-rolling action and low-slung design of Mom's new Singer vacuum. The extra-capacity bag will cope with broken ornaments now, and dozens of chores later. Next year, Susie may stand it on end to imagine a moon-bound rocket, but it's built to last.

Gifts Will Take on Sparkle In Colorful, Luxury Wraps

This year, elegance ad tradition combine with the best of modern design to bring a variety in Christmas wrappings the like of which we've never seen before.

There's something for everyone, whether taste runs to the traditional, quaint, or the glamorous and sophisticated.

Gifts in all their glowing glory will joyfully reflect the tree lights. Delightful groups of Hummel-like children, heartwarming animals like a sly little sloth and gamboing cocker spanies, joyous birds in flight, will join the parade of the loveliest Christmas gift wraps.

The traditional red and greens as much a part of Christmas as carols and good wishes, are back too, in brilliant new treatments.

Perhaps the most luxurious paper you'll find is a solid red-flocked treatment of poinsettia and holly that looks as though it belongs on the walls of a Victorian mansion. Called "Red Velvet," its richness is for precious gifts.

There's always something new, of course. This year it is picture wraps to make your gifts look as pretty as a picture, designed so that when the gift is wrapped the center panel forms one large picture.

"Christmas Angel" with dainty frosted wings and gown on a delicate pink background gives a gift a heavenly touch. And there are many other panel wrappings to choose from.

Use gift paper with a dainty design for small packages; a bold design for large ones. Solids can be used for all sizes, but vary the width of ribbon according to size.

Oven-Fresh Cinnamon Rolls

Take a vote in your house and chances are you'll find sweet breads high on the list of holiday food favorites—to eat and to give. Spicy and fragrant, frosted and trimmed, they're a wonderful treat for coffee time, a caroler's snack, or a nibbler's special.

Cinnamon rolls and bread are perhaps the most popular of all, and who can name anything more irresistible than a fat cinnamon swirl served deliciously crusty from the oven?

The basic recipe calls for Pream which gives the bread a light and tender texture, not too sweet and no too rich.

Plan now to stir up some of these good-to-eat breads for your own family to feast on or to tie up prettily to give to friends.

BASIC SWEET DOUGH

Two packages dry active or two cakes compressed yeast, ¼ cups warm water, ¼ cup Pream, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup salad oil, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 cup warm water, 4½-5 cups sifted flour, 2 eggs.

Soften dry yeast in ¼ cup warm water (110 degrees F.), compressed yeast in lukewarm water (85 degrees F.). Add Pream, sugar, salad oil, salt, 1 cup water, 2 cups flour, and eggs; beat until smooth. Add enough remaining flour to make dough easy to handle.

Turn dough onto lightly-floured board or pastry cloth; knead about 10 minutes or until dough is smooth and satiny.

To knead: press ball of dough flat: fold over on itself toward you. Push away with heel of hand. Turn dough quarter-way around, fold over and push again. Repeat in rocking motion.

Place dough in greased bowl. Brush with salad oil. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk—about 1½ to 2 hours. When light, punch down, Shape into smooth ball. Let rest 10 minutes. Shape and bake as directed below for Miniature Cinnamon Loaves and rolls. Recipe will yield six 4½x2½x1½-inch loaves and 1½-2 dozen rolls.

MINIATURE CINNAMON LOAVES

Using half of basic sweet dough, roll into rectangle 18 by 10 inches. Brush surface with 1 tablespoon salad oil. Sprinkle with mixture of ¼ cup sugar, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, and 1 tablespoon Pream.

Beginning at long edge, roll up tightly as for jelly roll. Pinch together edges of roll to seal. Stretch roll lengthwise to make even. Cut into six equal pieces. Place each piece in greased miniature bread pan 4½x2½x1½ inches. (Pans are available in toy departments.)

Let rise until double in bulk, about 45 minutes. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 25-30 minutes or until golden brown. While still warm, frost.

Escalloped Potatoes Now Oven-Ready

Take a package of oven-ready scalloped potatoes, prepare according to instructions, and decorate with strips of pimento and sprigs of parsley for a perfect Christmas-season dish.

This idea comes from the test kitchens of the R.T. French Company, Rochester, N.Y., where the packaged, ready-to-bake-and-serve dish originated.

Oven-ready scalloped potatoes, which do away with washing, peeling and slicing raw potatoes, come delicately seasoned. To prepare, merely add milk, butter and water, and slip into the oven. Baking time is 40 to 50 minutes. They require no oven stirring.

TOWEL PLACE MATS

Handy fingertip towels, embazoned with a perky Christmas tree and holiday greetings, make nice place mats for choldren. Handy for doilies under Christmas plants, too.

THIS three-foot long "Fighting Lady" has an electronic fire warning system and radio transmitter, and a rotating deck gun that fires plastic shells. There's one unrealistic note—she operates only on dry land.

Hobby Kits Spur Child's Science Studies

The playroom scientist of 1960 can count on efficiet and extensive laboratory equipment for whatever branch of research he chooses to explore.

There is a fascinating variety in small sales research apparatus that covers projects ranging from astronomy and atomic energy research to photo micrography and zoology.

Among the intriguing special apparatus and manuals added to the already extensive kits for studying chemistry, biology, physics and mineralogy is a microbe enlarger and a special camera for photographing slide subjects.

The aspiring young biologist can try his hand at dissecting frogs and crayfish which come neatly packed in a mild preservative in polyethylene bags along with his biology set.

A new sextant is ready to assist junior in estimating the altitude of mountains, the height of planes and also provides basic training in navigation matters.

Copper plating, long a classic hobby for teen-agers, is now supplemented by a junior gold plating set—24-carat gold it is, too. And a new kit on fluorescent light provides a wide range of experiments in the world we can't see.

If you have active-minded, curious youngsters in the house—the kind that carry rocks in their blue jeans, hide small animals on the premises or are always tinkering with the insides of the TV set—ou'll want to include some of the new scientific kits on your Christmas shopping list. There's a wide range of them for youngsters from five to 18.

The newest are portable "laboratories" that include such things as electronic brains, baby computers, miniature Geiger counters, ultraviolet ray sets and materials for creating and measuring static electricity.

The kits were developed by Science Materials Center of New York, a group pioneering in the creation of special materials that combine facts and fun for science-minded youngsters. They are designed by teams of famous scientists and educators.

So don't pass them by, even if you're the type that can't tell a decibel from a decimal, or a neutron from a neuron.

Youngsters, these days, are fascinated with science. The idea of putting together a "thinking machine" that can solve mathematics problems may make you nervous, but your teen-ager will eat it up.

For wee ones of five or so, there are charts and models that show how nature "makes" the seasons, how a doorbell works or what weather is all about.

For older fry there are microscope kits that come with minute animal and plant slides, ultraviolet labs complete with fluorescent minerals, and color spectroscope kits.

For teen-agers—12 to 18—the kits are complex and challenging. Many of them teach the scientific principles behind important developments of recent years.

There's a junior analog computer, for example, which teaches electric circuitry and can multiply, divide, do square and cube roots. It's easily assembled in two hours by a 12-year-old.

And if, on Christmas Day, you find the turkey being examined under ultraviolet light, relax and enjoy it. This is the Age of Science.

Card Etiquette

Christmas Greetings Should Be Personal, Expert Says

No one has to speak the tongue to understand the sentiment behind a Christmas card, but sometiimes we get stumped on Christmas card etiquette.

If you plan to have your cards printed this year, here are some things you might like to know.

While titles like "Mr. and Mrs." may be used on personal Christmas cards, it is friendlier to omit "Mr. and Mrs." on all but the most formal cards or those intended for purely business acquaintances. When first names are used,, the wife's name should be imprinted first.

It's correct to imprdint fomily cards in informal ways like "The Browns," "The Brown Family," and so on, but when sending cards do not address envelopes to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith and Family," or "The Smith Family,"

If possible, send a separate (but different) card to individual members of the family or address the envelope to the parents and on the inside write to "Mary and Jack, and Johnnie and Jean."

Due to the large-scale shift in population these days, more and more people are having the envelipe imprinted with their nome and address.

According to Mrs. Peggy Gilbert, etiquette expert for Norcross, Inc., greeting card publishers, it's not only socially correct, but it's a convenient way of notifying friends of a change of address.

It is also correct to send Christmas cards to persons in mourning and there are religious cards with quotations from the Bible that can thoughtfully convey a message of comfort, as well as a seasonal greeting.

It is customary to address a widow by the same title she used when her husband was alive, such as "Mrs. Frank Jones."

If you receive a card from soomeone not on your list, don't feel obligated to mail a card in return. Instead, send a New Year's card or a note of thanks.

Remember the post office at Christmas, too. Address envelopes as plainly as possible, avoid abbreviations and use as much information as possible, uch a zone numbers.

A four-cent stamp is wisest. Not only will your cards be sorted and delivered first, but you can write personal notes on your cards to friends you seldom see during the year.

WANT TO be a millionaire? It's quick and easy for the whole family with Milton Bradley's Game of Life that starts the banker off with a $7,500,000 kitty. Stock certificates and insurance policies add spice to the financial ups and downs. Everybody has a chance to win down to the last play.

Check Holiday Linens Now For Festive Season Ahead

The gayest holiday season of the year is just around the corner. And before you find yourself in the delightful whirl of Christmas baking, decorating, shopping and parties, the Maytag Home Service department suggest you carefully check the holiday table linens.

A quick touch-up with the iron, rewashing and perhaps a bright dye may be needed to perk them up. And even dyeing is asimple process when you use your automatic washer.

Select the desired shade in one of the dyes for use in the automatic washer and follow the simple instructions. In approximately the same time it takes to wash a load of laundry, you can have a brilliant green or red tablecloth with matching napkins, ideal for this festive season.

Restoring linens to their sparkling preholiday condition is equally important—and equally easy. Even the hard-to-remove candle wax stains pop out with the proper handling.

Scrape away as much wax as possible. Place stain between two clean white blotters and press with warm iron. Sponge with nonflammable household spot remover. This method is recommended for any washable material.

Cranberries — a must for the holiday menu — have no appeal when found on your white tablecloth. No need to panic, however, for it is relatively easy to remove most fruit stains. On cotton or linen, stretch he cloth over a bowl and pour boiling water on the stain. For more stubborn stains, use lemon juice or a bleach.

Peach, pear, cherry or plum stains are handled differently. Sponge well in cool water, working glycerin into the stain. Do not use detergent. Let stand several hours, then add a few drops of white vinegar and rinse thoroughly.

It takes so little but means so much to keep your linens in tip-top shape for Christmas.

Hear Carols In All Their Yuletide Glory

Stero System Is Family Gift

Christmas without music would be like the Fourth of July without fireworks. Hymns and carols set the tone of the season and create the traditional atmosphere in which families move closer together.

But if music penetrates the soul of Christmas, so, too, does it infuse the lifeblood of our daily existence.

Some people travel miles and spend countless dollars to hear performed the music they love best. Others prefer to sit in the comfort of their living room while listening to the selections and artists of their choice; for they know that their high fidelity music system will enable them to hear a concert as clearly as if they were attending the performance.

High fidelity reproduction, which has brought a new measure of listening pleasure to music lovers, has attuned the public's ears to faithful, distortion-free performances. As a result, record and equipment producers have felt compelled to introduce even greater improvements.

The most recent dramatic advance, and one which captures the public fancy, has been the development of stereophonic high fidelity music for the home.

According to the Red-O-Kut Co., Corona, N.Y., manufacturer of high fidelity components, stereo (two-channel sound) basically uses two separately placed microphones to simultaneously record two separate sound tracks—one on each side of the record groove.

Making use of two strategically placed loudspeakers, the stereo system creates a veritable curtain of sound which more faithfully reinforces the illusion that the listener is actually sitting in the concert hall or shudio.

What better time than christmas, then, to avail yourself and your family of a stereo high fidelity music system? For Christmas is a family time and a gift-giving time as well.

This Yuletide season why not arrange to have each member of your family contribute just one high fidelity component as a gift for the family?

Only four basic pieces are necessary for your stereo music reproduction system: a turntable with a tonearm, a stereo amplifier, and two loudspeakers.

If you already have a monophonic (single channel) hi-fi setup, then it's easier still. Dad, for example, can provide an additional amplifier; mom might contribute the second loudspeaker; and junior can supply the stereo cartridge. And that's all there is to it.

Your treasured collection of LP records will sound even better than before with your new stereo system.

Now Is Time To Plan For Bills Ahead

Going to see red at Christmas? Red is all well and good when you're looking at Santa; but when you're looking at your bank account, green is the color you want to see.

So check your finances now. Find yourself a little short? Then, cheer up! There's no need to grow a long white beard worrying how you're going to fill the stockings at the chimney. Here are several ways to get ready for your date with Santa through your local bank.

First, start saving now. You still have time to build up a fund for Christmas if you begin right away. To figure out how much money to put aside each week, make a complete list of all your holiday expenses.

Deduct whatever you or your husband may have coming in the way of a Christmas bonus from the office. Then, divide this amount by the number of weeks between now and the time you expect to start your chopping.

Deposit weekly savings in a special-purpose account at your local bank. There, your Christmas fund will be out of easy reach, and you won't be tempted to borrow from it for other things.

Second, consider Christmas on credit. Any number of things can happen to upset the best of holiday plans. Your list of gifts or parties may grow faster than you expected. Some unusual family expense may gobble up your holiday fund.

Or you may find you just can't put aside as much money as you thought. Then, see if you can make up the difference with a personal loan from your bank.

Banks today lend money for a wide variety of personal needs. This includes the dollars to pay for the high cost of yuletide giving.

Contrary to popular belief, you can get the loan whether you are a depositor at the bank or not. All you need show is your ability to repay the loan comfortably out of current income.

But don't take on more debt than you can afford. It will take all the fun out of Christmas. The bankers suggest this rough rule-of-thumb: keep your total installment debt for the year under 15 per cent of annual take-home pay. This figure does not include the mortgage payments on your house. They are considered the same as rent; thus are extra.

A thoughtful way to give money to someone on your Christmas list for whom it is difficult to select a gift is through special-occasion gift checks. You can buy them at many banks. And they come in attractive designs for the occasion.

Enclose them with your regular Christmas card or with one you have specially selected. Some banks go all out to provide matching envelopes for an extra holiday fillip. If you have a friend overseas, why not send a gift of money through Foreign Remittance?

Finally, learn from this Christmas. Save a year ahead and don't get caught short of cash again.

SILVER FOR MOTHER

Thumping your noggin' for a different gift for Mother? How about some silver such as a silver-plated tea or coffee service she's always wanted? Or a large silver Revere bowl for fruit, salad or a flower centerpiece or candelabra are highly decorative, but practical items.

Recorded Yuletide Music Spreads Cheer

Each year something new is added to the music of Christmas, and 1960 is no exception. Grown-ups and children alike will delight to the sound of seasonal music on new record albums

This year among the new Christmas records is a swinging treatment of Tchaikovsky's perennial favorite, called "The Swinging Nut Cracker," by Shorty Rogers. Another is "The Sound of Children at Christmas," a Yuletide follow-up to Hugo & Luigi's delightful, "The Sound of Children" and "The Holy Land," by George Beverly Shea.

More in the traditional vein are "Christmas Music" by the Augustana Choir, and "The Sound of Christmas" by the Three Suns.

There are many other albums to add to your library of Christmas music. And, of course, the old recordings from seasons past, will bring the same joy year after year.

LET each family member contribute one high fidelity component for Christmas. The Rek-O-Kut Company, a manufacturer of hi-fi components, says a turntable with tonearm, a stereo amplifier, and two speakers are needed.

On Selecting Perfume, Get Right Scent

The young man who learns early the secret of selecting just the right fragrance for the ladies in his life is well on his way to becoming the kind of charmer that women from 9 to 90 dote on. Nothing flatters a woman more than the idea that a gift was chosen for her alone.

Consequently, any very promising young man will give his fragrance selections the same kind of itensive thought that he gives his final exams.

Young men who are selecting gift fragrances can't go wrong if they begin their choice by seeking scents that are packaged in aerosol containers. This modern, convenient way of packaging fragraces is popular with almost all women. The contents won't deteriorate, no matter how long they stay in the bottle; the spray which is easy to apply, gives a wonderful, cool refreshing lift to the user, and the packages are spill-proof and leak-proof, a bonus for the gift-giver if he plans to mail the fragrance.

This year aerosol fragrance containers are lovelier than ever before. Many are packaged in decorative metal containers that make handsome vanity accessories or that can be carried easily in the purse. Many, too, are equipped with special valves which emit the fragrance in an extremely fine and effective spray.

The Risdon Manufacturing Co. offers a few tips for the young man selecting a scent:

The clothes a gal wears furnish a lead to the kind of fragrance that will compliment her. Woodsy scents go well with tweeds and cashmeres. Oriental scents go well with furs and heavy silks, and floral scents are enjoyed by everyone.

Fragrance counters can be frightening barriers to young and old alike, but the gift, when thoughtfully chosen, brings its own rewards.

CHANCE TO RECOUP

Young marrieds entertain their friends and proudly display their new home furnishings. If you have been negligent about a wedding gift, make up for it at Christmas. They'll appreciate a silver-plated chafing dish, sauce boat or a handsome pitcher or an addition to their flatware.

IT'S THE year of the pony tail in the school age doll contingent. Luxuriant long locks, rooted firmly for serviceability, readily provide single or double pony tails to suit the fancy of the junior hair stylist. Here Ruthie, a new exponent of the pony tail fashion, wears a smart new straw hat and a nylon dress with striped hemline.

Be He Duffer or Pro, Choose Those Golf Gifts With Care

The most welcome gift any golfer could receive as a Christmas present undoubtedly would be a magic putter that would unfailingly stroke the ball into the hole.

Unfortunately, such a putter hasn't been invented, even by a benevolent Santa. But, according to Ben Roman, head golf professional at Harder Hall, Sebring, Fla., one of the country's finest golf resorts, pro shops are filled with innumerable gifts that will please the avid golfer.

In selecting a gift for the golfer, Roman advises the shopper to consult a golf pro. "He can help the shopper avoid the gimmicks and select gifts that will really contribute to the golfer's enjoyment of the game.

"If the pro knows the golfer, he can make even more helpful suggestions," says Roman. "For instance, he may know that a golfer yearns for a new putter, or prefers one kind of ball to another."

Some gifts such as golf gloves or shoes require a perfect fit and should be given through a gift certificate.

A comparatively inexpensive gift, but one that many golfers would welcome is a ball marking set. These may come with the golfer's name already set in a line of type which can be stamped on his golf balls as they are purchased.

Another welcome gift is a collapsible golf cart of the kind that has made caddies almost obsolete on many busy courses. The purchaser should be sure that it folds up easily, is light but sturdy, and rolls smoothly.

A first set of golf clubs for a young boy or girl can make this Christmas an especially memorable. In purchasing clubs, the Harder Hall pro suggests that the advice of a professional be sought. It's very important that clubs have the right shaft, flexibility, swing weight, dead weight, length and grip size.

A gift that would please the entire family, provided every member is a golf enthusiast, would be a two-week midwinter vacation to one of the Florida golf resorts where guests play and talk golf at least 16 out of 24 hours a day.

Electric Dishwasher Helps Busy Hostess

Holiday entertaining will be more fun with less fuss for the hostess who receives a new electric dishwasher for Chritmas. The appalling stacks of after-the-party dishes, silverware, glasses and ashtrays can go right into the dishwasher to be washed, rinsed, and dried, instead of into the kitchen sink to be wearily hand-washed.

A dishwasher will simplify party preparations, too. The housewife can put pots, pans, bowls and utensils right in the dishwasher as soon as she's through with them. They'll be out of ight until it's convenient to put them away, cleaned and dried.

More time with the guests and less in the kitchen—the aim of every hostess—becomes a reality for the woman who can put the family's dinner dishes in her dishwasher before guests arrive. She has more time to get into her party clothes and enjoy the company.

Today's automatic dishwashers hold up to 14 place settings, including delicate glassware, china and silverware. Several washing cycles in germ-killing hot water, followed by thorough rinsing and spotless drying, leave them sparkling and sanitary. A dishwasher for Christmas means a gift of hundreds of extra hours to be enjoyed all year.

It's a lot less difficult to get the kids to help with the dishes, too, if they don't have to be hand washed.

THE refreshing scent of Lavender imparts a young feeling. Packaged in blue and gold, spray mist and soap of this delicate scent make a mighty pretty gift.

CHRISTMAS CORSAGE

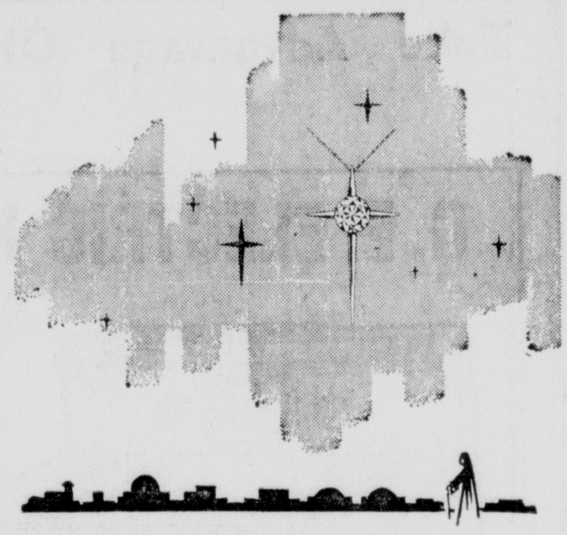

Christmas corsages add something to this happy season—and they're easy to make. A few sprigs of live holly can be combined with ribbons, bells, cotton or tinsel. Give the holly a spray treatment with Antrol's Instant Leaf Shine to give it extra gloss.

Vikings Knew Easy Way to Feed a Crowd

You'll Enjoy Holiday Smorgasbord

The Vikings learned long ago that a smorgasbord was the best way to cater for a crowd. In olden days, however, preparations started days and even weeks in advance.

Today's homemaker relies on the local supermarket or grocery to turn out a Christmas buffet in record time.

A typical menu that borrows lavishly from the traditions of the Vikings lists Swedish meat balls and a cold beet salad as the main dishes.

Ry-King, the Swedish crisp bread, is served with all courses, as in Sweden, lending an authentic Scandinavian accent to the spread. Use it as a base for canapes, as a crisp partner to the hot dishes, and even as a nourishing ingredient for the Swedish meat balls.

Highlight the menu with the traditional Swedish Christmas drink, Glogg. The result: a feast fit for the most fastidious gourmet.

And here's the way to make Glogg: one bottle Swedish aquavit, two bottles burgundy, ¾ cup raisins, ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cardamon seeds, ½ teaspoon whole cloves, three ½-inch pieces cinnamon stick, 1 small piece lemon peel.

Pour half of the aquavit and all of the burgundy into large saucepan. Add raisins and sugar. Tie spices in cheesecloth and drop into wine mixture.

Cover pan, bring very slowly to the boiling point, let simmer 30 minutes. Add remaining part of aquavit. Remove from heat and put a match to Glogg in saucepan.

Using a long-handled ladle, pour hot Glogg into punch bowl or chafing dish.

It's fun to have a slightly different Christmas party, and with smorgasbord even the hostess will have a good time.

Lighting Decorations Accent Spirit of Christmas Holiday

As traditional as Christmas itself is the "light" touch on holiday decorations. And to all those in favor of saying "Merry Christmas" with light are dedicated the following hints from Miss Myrtle Fahsbender, director of home lighting for Westinghouse.

The success of decorating with light does not call for lavish and costly displays. On the contrary, the more one's personality is reflected in holiday decorations, the more sincerely they express the Christmas spirit.

Whether you make your own decorations, or buy ready-to-install designs that come complete with electric lights and cord set, start with a plan.

Study the architecture of the house, the landscaping and the interior design and furnishings. Then, accent with lighted decorations at night those features of which you are proudest by day.

Windows, especially picture windows, are a "natural" to decorate. So are the front door, buffet table. Shrubbery, flower boxes or an evergreen tree on the lawn can be effectively, yet inexpensively, decorated with strings of lights.

Choosing between the assorted colors in which Christmas lights are available is a matter of personal taste. All the colors are symbolic of the season. Red signifies cheer. Green suggests wintry evergreens. Red, yellow and white are reminiscent of a frosty, starlit Christmas sky.

Light bulbs will last from Christmas to Christmas if carefully packed. But when it comes time to replenish the supply, you'll find that they've increased in number and variety.

Here's Gift Suggestions For Gardeners

Finding the right Christmas gift for everyone on your list can be difficult. But a little serious thinking can usually solve the problem —especially if you're shopping for a green-thumb enthusiast.

Here's an idea for an unusual gift that will be welcomed heartily by every gardener. Start by finding a gardening tool basket. Fill it with holiday greens, tie a holiday bow to the handle, and then, add a variety of gardening tools such as these:

SPRINKLING CAN—The latest in sprinkling cans is an attractive, polyethylene variety. Lightweight, colorful and noiseless, it can be used without the spray head for watering potted plants, or with the head for sprinkling flower beds. It's ideal for applying plant food, too, so be sure to give a container of fertilizer, such as Heller-Gro, by Boyle-Midway, the makers of Antrol, at the same time. It's a water-soluble plant food that comes in paste form and dissolves in water for easy application.

GARDEN TOOLS—Lifetime garden tools made of aluminum are invaluable. A set of three—all-purpose trowel, cultivator and potting trowel are unbreakable and rust-resistant. They come with a soft rubber cushion grip that's kind to tender skin and won't slip in garden gloves.

GARDEN HOSE—A 25-foot garden hose extension is another good item for your supply basket. The new hoses are reinforced with nylon tire cord to prevent kinking and bursting. Also, they coil easily and will fit into any good-sized basket. Because it's recommended for applying garden chemicals, it's a good idea to make this a combination gift by including a hose-spray attachment, such as Antrol's Hose-Spray Weed and Brush Killer. The chemical comes bottled premixed and with a free spray head made of durable plastic that attaches to the garden hose. It mixes the chemical automatically with the hose water in the right proportions.

GARDEN GLOVES—For a man, a heavy canvas-type fabric glove is recommended. Lady gardeners will like Poppins Scrubbers, made of soft cotton jersey, with a plastic resistant finish. She can wash them with a damp cloth. A pruning shears and grass clipping shears will fill the basket.

YEAR-ROUND GIFT

The housewife who is an excellent cook, from cans, will appreciate a new opener. Try gifting her with an electric one that mounts on any wall surface. There is a new one on the market that takes all size cans, from tiny tomato paste to largest juice cans. And a built-in magnet lifts and holds the lid, preventing messy spills.

Exotic Plant Might Be the Right Gift

Jaded by Christmas? Caught without an idea in your head? Tired of trying to surprise the proverbial person who has everything — at least everything within reason?

Don't give up hope. Your garden supply store or nursery may have a fresh approach to your Christmas gift problems.

The "perfect" present may turn out to be an orchid, African violet, begonia, or other rare plant potted in a peat moss pot and attractively kept in a decorative new planter especially designed to give hard-to-grow house plants tender care.

The Tropi-Grower, which creates the humid climate in which tropical plants thrive, is just 8 15-16 inches in diameter and 4⅞ inches high, but it insures constant moisture, high humidity and abundant root aeration of the plant it holds.

If you are equipped with a green thumb and can start the plant yourself, your gift will be even more treasured. But, if that's your plan, you'd better start now to work on your Christmas list for 1961, since it takes a long time to raise a plant from cuttings.

But if Christmas 1960 is the first hurdle, as it is for most of us, you can have your local greenhouse or nursery pot a plant in the three-inch peat moss pot which comes in the Tropi-Grower.

Made of sturdy polyestryene, the Tropi-Grower comes in two styles, standard and de luxe. The de luxe has a spun metal saucer while the saucer of the standard is polyestyrene. Each model has a transparent collar which serves a double purpose: it shows the plant foliage to advantage and it also keeps the leaves from touching the soil or pot rim.

PALATE TICKLER

For a holiday breakfast try hot canned applesauce and brown frizzled sausages as an appetizing treat with popovers and coffee.

THIS CHRISTMAS it's hard to tell which is the doll mother. The vogue for playmate size dolls dressed exactly like babies, toddlers and kindergarteners has inspired a whole new crop of child size doll accessories too. The dolls have "bone" structure modeled carefully according to average proportions of the age they represent.

Carols Expression of the Heart

What is a Christmas carol? How did the custom of card-singing start? ? What is the symbol of light at the Christmas season?

Children all over the world once again asking these questions as this season approaches.

The word „carol" once meant to dance in a ring. The carol began the era of "modern music," which has always been based on the dance, as a spontaneous musical expression of folklore.

As Puritanism, which had supprssed the drama and the dance, began disappearing in the 14th and 15th Centruies, the newly acquired right to self-expression by the people took the form of the fresh and buoyant poem-song, which later became the carol.

A brilliant light at Christmastime is symbolic of the "Star in the East," of course. The Wise Men following its steady guidance, made their pilgrimage to Bethlehem.

In many towns and cities carolers still lift their voices on Christmas Eve. They still carry their torches of old may have been replaced with propane lanterns to light the cards, the joy in their hearts is as new as it ever was through the years.

THE astro base is an exciting new addition to the young space enthusiast's playroom equipment. It includes the latest concept of a space ship with viewing screen, and control panel. There is a take-apart scout car, which operates by remote control. This activates machine gun noises and lights. The astronaut is removed from his scout car by an operating crane and landed in astro base.

Here's Beauty Afoot

Women who turn to the barefoot look in slippers for holiday parties should make sure their feet can stand the public exposure.

When bathing feet in warm soapy water, pay special attention to between the toes and back of heels. Also cut and trim toenails straight across and push cuticle back for a neater appearance.

Rubbing a foot balm into the skin keeps it supple and healthy, Dr. William M. Scholl points out, and a daily dusting of foot powder keeps feet fresh. And after dancing all night, soothe aching feet with a foot lotion.

Home-built Pirate Chest Is Handy For Boy's Room

Space age or not, every boy likes to look back on the days of privateers and buried treasure and, with this mind, one of the most practical and popular do-it-yourself Christmas gifts a father can make for his son is a pirate chest for toys, sport equipment and all the myeterious "treasures" boys collect. It's bound to make a hit with mom, too, since it increases storage space for things that might otherwise be left lying about.

Such a chest can be made simply and economically with Idaho white pine, or any of the other softwoods from the western pine region. The chest features a box-type lid and will measure approximately three feet long, 18 inches deep, and a little over 21 inches high. Due to a certain loss of wood in the milling process, the width of the side pieces actually will come to about 17¼ inches and the builder should be careful to lay his stock out and measure it as he builds the chest.

The bottom, top, sides and ends all can be made from one length of 12-inch stock and two pieces of 4-inch stock each. It is wise to start with the ends of the chest first using a piece of the 4-inch stock as the bottom piece and the 12-inch stock above it. Remember that the oher piece of 4-inch board forms a part of the lid.

Next build the front and back and put these into place. You can use medium-sized finishing nails, countersinking them if you want a finished job. The Western Pine Association warns not to fill the holes with plastic wood until you have stained the completed chest however, since plastic wood will smear some on the unfinished wood and it will not take stain.

When the sides are attached to the front and back, nail a 1x2-inch upright brace from top to bottom in each corner for strength. Then put the bottom on the chest. The cover can be built the same way. Build the frame first of 4-inch stock, and then add the top.

Drill holes in the ends of the chest to take rope handles. Tie knots in the rope ends inside the box and tack down the loose ends.

Next stain the chest, carefully fill the nails holes with plastic wood, and attach the hinges, corner hardware and whatever type of lock or closure you prefer. When the plastic wood has dried you can touch it up to the tone of the stain.

An ordinary world map can be purchased at the dime store and stapled inside the lid. Treasure routes, compass points and the borders of the continents outlined in India ink will give the map an old-fashioned look and add personality.

Many Legends Tell Meaning of Holly

Holly is often regarded as the most sacred and symbolic of all Christmas greenery decorations. Legend has it that it was from a burning holly bush that God spoke to Moses. And when news spread of the Savior's birth, it is related sprays of holly were hung up as symbols of gladness.

Space Gadgets 1st In Parade of Toy

Down through the years—come wars, inflation, depression or jet propulsion—children have played with toys.

"For a long time the creative abilities of the American toy maker has filled our country's market places with the most amazing playthings in the world.

"But noticeable progress in recent years has been made in the quality, durability and safety of our toys," says Charles S. Raizen, president of the Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A., Inc., official association of the industry.

Most popular types recently are the space and science toys—microscopes, telescopes, chemistry set, missile and launcher.

Then come construction kits which make everything from jet planes to atomic submarines and from an electronic brain to a broadcasting station.

Television has spurred the Western boom. This includes not only guns and holsters but also Western board games.

Even the perennial favorites such as dolls, stuffed animals, trains, rocking horses, musical instruments and nursery school playthings have been re-designed into new and exciting styles and sizes.

The America toy manufacturers are agreed that this year will see more toys under the tree than in any previous year.

Last year proved to be a peak year for the American toy industry when retail sales zoomed to an estimated 1.6 billion dollars. Toy sales have been expanding considerably faster than the general rise in the American economy.

Major factors that have accounted for this growth have been the increase in population and the rising proportion of children in the total population.

Other significant factors have been the rising standarrd of living and the ability of the toy industry to turn out a steady stream of new models and varieties of toys.

That the toy manufacturers have received a vote of confidence from the American buying public is clearly evident in the sales figures.

A GIFT in the hand is worth two on the list. A welcome present for wardrobe-wise girls is an antique velours pouf pouch big enough to hold a multitude of purse accessories, yet light enough not to weigh down the arm. Framed and double-handled in color-blended leather, the bag is season-spanning from winter through spring.

Small Appliances Can Be Your 'Extra Set of Hands'

If the so-called "small" appliances we get for Christmas could speak for themselves, they would protest spending the better part of the housekeeping day on the shelf. For these small-size, lightweight and sleekly-styled appliances are BIG about making house keeping more efficient and entertaining less of an effort.

To prove the point, Miss Camille Beauchamp, director of the Westinghouse Home Economics Institute, cited the often overlooked conveniences that small appliances offer the homemaker. For example:

Homemakers who own an electric roaster will find that it's capable of doing anything an oven can do, including baking, stewing and roasting. With the broiler grid — an optional accessory—foods can also be fried, grilled, toasted and broiled. With the timer clock — another accessory—food placed in the roaster in the morning will start cooking at any later preselected hour and will stop when done, all without any pot watching.

Double duty can be had from the equipment that comes with the roaster. Ovenproof dishes can be used independently for baking, serving and storing foods. The lift up rack makes a cooling rack for cakes and cookies. The 18-quart inset pan can be pressed into service as a dishpan.

The toaster, if given a chance, can be an any-meal servant. Stretch leftovers by serving them on a crisp slice of toast at lunch. Heat frozen waffles for Sunday supper. Make hommade Melba toast. Toast leftover pound cake, smother it with fudge sauce, and you have a tasty dessert.

Extra mileage can be had from an electric coffee maker—especially during the holidays—by saying "let's have a cup of coffee" to guests who drop in. Once a pot full of coffee has reached serving temperature, the coffee automatically remains piping hot without reperking.

If vacuum cleaner and attachments are kept in mind, then it's doing what comes naturally to use the radiotor tool to dust out coat pockets and cuffs on trousers. Odd jobs for the steam iron include pressing the veil on a hat, freshening ribbons, or raising nap on suede and velvet shoes.

That extra pair of hands with muscles, otherwise known as a mixer, should be on the job as often as there are cake batters to mix, cream to whip, salad dressings to blend, eggs to beat or potatoes to mash. With one beater removed, eggnogs and milk shakes can be whipped up in a jiffy.

To own small appliances without putting them on a fulltime basis is a needless waste. It's abuse, not use, that makes these willing workers old before their time.

SHELLAC PRESERVES

The cute painted faces on toys will last longer if sprayed with shellac. Give the face a second spray coat for added protection from the wear your children give the toys.

COLORFUL PLACE MATS

Gay French ballerinas, on white plastic place mats and matching aprons, are sure to delight the hearts of "les girls" from four to eight on your Christmas list.

FAVORITE RECIPES deserve the finest herbs and spices. From John Wagner & Sons spice house comes an attractive spice rack, fully equipped with 12 small apothecary jars filled with spices and herbs, that will capture Mom's heart and help make every holiday meal a gourmet's delight.

Here's New Way to Serve Turkey Leftovers

A spicy curried dish keeps pace with the nippy winter weather. It serves a double purpose, too, when the main ingredient is Tom turkey.

Home economist Gertrude Lynn offers this tested recipe: Combine one cup chopped onion, one cup chopped celery and two cups slivered carrots. Add one cup boiling water and one bay leaf. Simmer until vegetables are tender but not soft.

Then remove bay leaf and add two cups canned apple sauce, one teaspoon grated lemon rind, three cups diced cooked turkey, 1½ cups turkey gravy, one teaspoon salt and a few grains of pepper.

Mix two teaspoons curry powder with a little hot water, add it to the mixture and heat.

For a decorative platter surround the curried dish with a border of well seasoned rice and top with a lattice work of pimento strips. This recipe will serve eight and goes well with salted peanuts, coconut, chutney and raisins.

Tasty Cookies Please Everyone

There's nothing more heartwarming than a gift of homemade goodies at Christmas time. Two of the most delicious and easiest to make in large quantities, are crisp "Double Peanut Drops" and no-bake "Jiffy Fruitcake Squares." Because of the rich flavor of peanut butter, these two very diferent cookies appeal to all ages. Here's how to make them.

DOUBLE PEANUT DROPS

One-quarter cup peanut butter, 1-3 cup butter or other shortening, ¼ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2-3 cup crushed peanut brittle, 1 cup sifted flour.

Cream peanut butter with shortening. Beat sugar in gradually. Add vanilla and peanut brittle. Gradually stir in flour. (Mixture will be crumbly.)

JIFFY FRUITCAKE

Grind raisins and dates together. Add peanut butter and mix thoroughly. Add candied fruit and mix well. Line two 8x8x2-inch pans with wax paper and press half of mixture into each. Chill in refrigerator 36 hours before cutting into squares. Makes 50 pieces. Fruitcake can be stored in refrigerator for several months.

Tasty Popcorn Is Winter Snack

Now is the time to stock your pantry with quick and easy snacks for cozy winter evenings.

Popcorn is a perennial favorite. Buttered and salted, it's delicious—but try it with some other seasonings occasionally. Popcorn mixed with nuts and pretzels makes a tasty snack. Popcorn sprinkled with spices or crumbled cheese is easy to fix, low in calories. Also try these seasoning agents—crumbled bleu cheese, oregano, curry powder, barbecue spice, grated American cheese and onion salt.

Especially good with barbecue seasoned popcorn is a sharp cheese dip. Here's one that can be made in advance and refrigerated until serving time.

Cheese

Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon inion salt, 1½ cups milk, dash of tobasco sauce, 2 teaspons Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon chopped chives or green onion tops, 1 lb. process Swiss cheese, shredded.

Melt butter over low heat; stir in flour and salts. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly, and cook until smooth and thickened. Add seasonings and cheese and blend until thoroughly mixed. Lower heat and cook until cheese is melted and hot. Makes three cups. Store in a tightly closed container in the refrigerator. Reheat in a chafing dish or double boiler.

Long History

TREE SAFETY

The switch for turning on tree lights should be placed some distance from the tree. Never use an outlet or plug under the tree or run electric trains around the base.

Stitch In Time For Christmas--- It's Fine for Girls

Clever girls with a long Christmas gift list and a limited budget will do well to turn the click of knitting needles into a pile of gay and useful gifts for the Yuletide season. For there is a gift to knit for everyone on your list, from the newest baby in the family to a bachelor uncle.

Sweaters — all varieties — offer smart "present potential" for guys and gals who can never have too many. Hooded pullovers and heavy weight sport sweaters, perfect for the outdoor enthusiast, are easy to knit since they are worked in bulky yarn.

For girls who go in for at home lounging, gay patterned tops, often fringed at the hipline and knit in bright colors will be a welcome gift, while party goers will delight in charming little jackets, bolero-brief and sometimes jeweled, that have all the aplomb of a little fur wrap. And for teen-agers, handsome crew necked pullovers can be knit in school colors, while V-necked "como" cardigans, the latest coke set rage, can be made in matching boy-girl duet sets.

Since the tiniest tots often offer a gift-giving problem, those who are handy with knitting needles and crochet hooks can start the "carriage trade" off on the right road to fashion with a wardrobe of handknits. Tiny jackets in soft and fine baby yarn acquire a sophisticated air with cable stitch motifs down the front or sleeves. Other cardigans are knit in lacy see-through stitches, while surplice sweater jackets for easy dressing slip on and tie at the wait just above a pair of fancy knit diaper covers.

Even toys lend themselves to the knitting needles, and sure to please mother as well as baby are dolls, pussy cats and other nursery animals to knit or crochet in varied sizes and stuff to soft cuddly shapes.

Those who believe in putting off their shopping until the calendar reads mid-December can still knit their Christmas gifts if they choose their project from the many novel boutique designs, such as anklet cuffs to dress up white bobby socks or looped slipper socks and matching mittens.

PROTECT CHILDREN

Don't leave children at home alone at Christmas or at any other time. All too often fire is started by a child playing with matches.

Parakeet Can Offer Years of Enjoyment

Santa Claus can't bring a gift that will give more joy to a little girl or boy than a colorful pet.

A parakeet in a cage makes a particularly good gift since these amusing little creatures are hardy and have talents which can be developed by the youngster.

They are inexpensive to own, simple to care for and have a natural flair for entertaining that can keep the whole family amused.

If you really want to make a hit, Buell Culver, executive director of French's Pet Bird Institute, suggests that you buy the bird in advance and teach it to say "Merry Christmas."

Then pick a pretty cage, top it with a sprig of holly and a red bow, and you have a gift that will bring joy and companionship long after the tinsel and Christmas wrappings have been forgotten.

Parakeets will live from eight to 12 years with proper care. Every day fill the seed cup with conditioning food and refill the water cup. Then keep a parakeet cuttle bone and biscuit attached to the cage bars and a layer of gravel on the cage floor. And don't forget to pack in a supply of bird food. Not many stores are open on Christmas.

The large ears of African elephants serve as fans. The animals keep them constantly in motion on hot days to circulate the air.

At the first opportunity she ought to grab the instructions that come wih the set and get started reading them right away. With a head start on the expert advice, she will be able to offer helpful suggestions when the "men" go to work on assembling the tracks.

There is more to running a railroad than coupling the cars. And there are certain facets of the operation that mother is more qualified to handle than the men in the family.

Scenery setting, for instance. A model railroad line that is worthy of the name before long will have its tracks running through miniature towns and cities, over bridges, through the countryside. Mother can—and should—direct the scene setting.

Mother can also endear herself to the boys by becoming a source of information on railriading lore and technical facts about the equipment represented in the train set.

This year electric trains run the gamut from a replica of the famed Civil War wood-burner, "The General," to trains of tomorrow which include cars that launch missiles, a rocket or a helicopter.

Before long, if mother pitches in, she will be invited to take her turn at the switch. Who knows? Someday she may even be allowed to operate the train.

What's more, she may get to like the idea of playing with the electric trains as much as the male contingent does. If that happens, watch out, boys! You might find the dinner hour getting later and later while Mom plays "Casey Jones."

Sweetheart Chest Is Ideal Gift For Young Girl, Woman

Among young people looking toward a future together, the cedar chest is a welcome and useful gift item. In fact, statistics show that 50 per cent of all cedar chests are purchased as gifts for young girls between 17 and 24 years of age, and that romantic young men head the list of buyers.

Now called a sweetheart chest, this cedar-lined storage unit makes a holiday hit with all young girls as an engagement or pre-engagement gift.

The new sweetheart chests, such as those offered by Lane, feature units with long and low lines perfect for a bench at the foot of a bed. They are also attractive as window seats or wall accents or any room of the home.

Styled to please any decorative preference, the chests are designed in French Provincial, traditional, Oriental and modern moods, all in a wide range of fine woods.

The deep cedar interior protects clothing and the linens and woolens being saved for a future home. Some chests have felt-lined base drawers perfect for a silver collection.

Sliding or self-rising trays beneath the lids of other sweetheart chests allow a separate storage area for small items such as gloves, jewelry and scarve. Some new models have drawers or doors adjacent to the cedar-lined compartment. Upholstered tops are handsome accents on several chests.

As the first furniture item a young couple shares, the sweetheart chest—the symbol of a happy future—is the gift that starts the home.

Wrist Watches With Alarm Are Ideal Gift

Wondering when the Christmas turkey will be done? Know when to feed the baby? Or are you thinking of a home permanent?

There's a new wristwatch for women, made by Vulcain, that's guaranteed to revolutionize the sociological scheme of things. From now on, women can do things on time; even "think" on time with the wristwatch with a golden-voice alarm.

The effects of this new timepiece may result in a topsy-turvy world (at first, anyway) when your beau expects you to arrive an hour late and the boss, well, minutes tardy. But, strenuous as the adjustment period may be, the watchmakers of Switzerland believe that the world will be a better place to live in, when women begin to arrive on time.

Granted this new wristwatch with an alarm may take the romance out of things, but the male, in the end, will be thankful, particularly if he's waiting in hotel lobby, corner drugstore or under a movie marquee. Besides, you can cheat a little by setting the alarm to arrive, let's say, just five minutes late.

Just how much the new womans' wrist alarm will come to the aid of women depends on what it's used for. It can time hair coloring, shopping sprees and luncheons, and that should be helpful. And as a Christmas memento, for both the housewife anl business woman, it just might be set at 12 midnight Christmas Eve, to watch Santa slide down the chimney.

Melting Snow Helps Grass Seed Get Start

After a fresh snow, but before a crust has formed, is an excellent time to sow grass seed. When the snow melts, the seed will be carried down with it into the crumbly, frost-opened surface of the soil. There it will be ready to germinate as soon as the weather warms.

BEST FACE FORWARD

A dingy light-colored front door stands out. You'll want it clean to greet holiday guests and before you deck it out with a Christmas wreath or fancy spray of pine branches and cones. Scrub it with a sponge dipped in a solution of special cleaner for walls and painted surfaces. Be sure to polish the door knob and brass knocker, too.

USE WRAP PAPER

Use fancy gift wrap paper you received. Paste the paper to a large potato chip can that has been cleaned. Spray shellac over the surface and you have an attractive waste paper receptacle. The shellac can also be used to paste the paper to the can.

PLANIMALS, planetary playmates for space-minded youngsters, offers wood heads, beads, plastic bodies, leg bases and chenille, to provide the makings of such space denizens as Marspider and Astrodragon.

Show Off Those Family Photographs

For the homemaker who has a den with a fireplace, decorators suggest a large-size portrait photograph of the man of the house in direct color, hung over the mantel.

A casual wall arrangement for the family room is especially designed for hobbyists. If you collect butterfilies, for instance, have them mounted and framed, and surrounded with portrait photos of the collectors.

With all the far-flung relatives headed home for the holidays, Christmas is the perfect season to schedule a group photograph. The ideal place to hang such a masterpiece to enjoy year-round is over a writing desk. Co-ordinate the frame to the furnishings.

Make a New Year's resolution to have your children photographed at regular intervals. Hang the photographs in the master bedroom on ribbons suspended on either side of the dressing table mirror.

A clever idea for the family that has a long narrow hall leading into the house or apartment is to cover one whole side with pegboard. Decorate with portrait photographs in black and white and color in frames of various sizes and shapes. This arrangement is ideal for any passageway too narrow for furniture.

These can be printed to exactly fit a screen, room divider, triptych or panel. The result is tres magnifique!

So don't keep your family portraits hidden away in a cabinet drawer. When framed and displayed tastefully, they can add to the beauty of your home.

Holiday Travels Can Be Enjoyable

Traveling by car during the Christmas holidays will be as much fun, and hold as many dividends for the whole family, as summer vacation time.

The U.S. countryside, from coast to coast, offers breath-taking scenic beauty at this time of year, as well as tempting lures dreamed up by the motel owners who will vie for your patronage along the highways.

Motel operators take the holiday season seriously, preparing all corts of entertainment and special social drawing cards to win and welcome their motoring guests. The idea, says the management of the Premiere Motels, national motel chain, is to give families the feeling of being at home—of relaxing as they would at their own cozy hearthside.

For instance, you might stop at one motor court, and find that you're just in time to join in the carol singing in the holly-decorated lounge. And, afterwards, you'll find yourself partaking of the punch and cookies.

Your youngsters might get the unexpected thrill of finding stockings full of goodies ... and gifts, hung over their beds, as you check into their rooms.

The feeling of good will toward all men seems to be at its peak among lodge owners at this time of year. It's getting to be common practice to find that several motel operators, located near each other, will hold "open house" from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m., followed by a buffet dinner, and guests from the nearby motels will be invited to the festivities.

Can you imagine how pleased parents are when they find that management has placed a miniature trimmed Christmas tree in their room so that the children won't be disappointed being away from home. As a matter of fact, don't be surprised if you bump into Santa Claus as he distributes gifts for your family.

You'll not only get the VIP treatment if you hit the road by car this Yuletide, you'll have the comforts of home.

WARD OFF FIRE

If decorations are used about the house, do not permit them around or near chairs and other places where people may smoke. It is preferable to have them near the ceiling, well above the head of anyone standing up.

That Party Look— Your Gift to All

A refreshing change in color for your hair, a new costume for evenings at home, a real effort to look like a party just for your loved ones can be your holiday gift to the family.

"Take a good look in your mirror," suggests Ellen Noreen Baum, director of the Noreen Beauty Institute. "Have you let your hair grow too long? Is it dull and lifeless?"

Try a temporary color hair rinse. Select a color that will bring back the lustrous natural color of your hair and blend in scattered gray if you have some. Just shampoo your hair, pour on the rinse, set your hair and proceed with your beauty treatment.

Next, a relaxing bath with a soothing bath oil, followed by an application of dusting powder.

Then take some time to make up your face shaping your eyebrows and lips to complement the contour of your face.

Your family will have a lasting Christmas gift, for you'll wear your new holiday wrappings long after the new year has arrived.

Choose Gift That Will Fit Into Kitchen

Budget-worthy gifts with great appeal for creative cooks can be found in unusual shopping spots away from the bustling holiday crowds, suggests Margaret Spader, home service consultant for the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

A chemist's supply house, for instance, says Miss Spader, is a gold mine for functionally deigned items such as small flexible spatulas, so smart for use with appetizing spread. Other useful items to be found here are white porcelain evaporating dishes used over a gas flame in science laboratories. These are useful for melting butter, heating sauces and serving condiments.

Snoop the hardware stores and look over the display of oil cans. Such a can can be used for salad oil and kept near the gas range for use when frying.

The thermometers you'll find in hardware stores are good "stocking-size" gifts. Griddle, meat, oven and freezer thermometers will all be welcome.

Restaurant supply houses will probably make you forget the size of the stocking. The GAMA expert suggests knives, knife sharpeners and whisks that profesional chef use. Lobter and snail forks, liquor glasses, butter pots, marble and wood slabs for serving and work counters will tempt you to give yourself a Christmas gift, too.

As these shops are usually at a distance from each other, don't try to visit them all in one day. Take time enough to make sure your gifts will be unusual.

GIFT FOR A GOURMET

Surprise gourmet friends with an epicurean Christmas gift-like royal Hawaiian macadamia nuts. These come in gift packages which contain four seven-ounce jars or four twelve-ounce jars. In case you have not tried them yet, they are rich in flavor just right for cocktails or with after-dinner coffee or ice cream.

Australian aborigines trim a boomerang again and again until it has the correct curve.

Good Books For Children Are Ideal Gift

Did you ever think about the night after Christmas? Or did you ever read about it?

Everything in literature seems to stop after the carols and the presents and the turkey. But literature can be deceptive. Just when it stops, it starts. And on the night after Christmas, lucky kids all over the country will be reading books. American publishers are offering more and better children's books than ever, and whether the child in your life is 4 or 14, there's a wonderful world waiting for him in the printed word.

One American publisher is suiting the action both to the word and to the world. The World Publishing Company of Cleveland and New York has a cosmopolitan collection of books for children by distinguished writers from France, Italy, England, Japan and, of course, America. Here are a few of them.

BRUNO MUNARI'S ABC is imaginative, and bursting with color enough to enchant parents, let alone youngsters. It's the first of this brilliant Italian artist's books to be created especially for American children.

Another stunning picture book in color is THE BUTTERFLY CHASE—this one for the maturing young adult of, say, 4 to 8 years of age. It's a zany story about a small American boy and his French grandfather, written by the husband-wife team of Denise and Alain Trez. The Trez's are Parisians, and their occasional exuberant comments in French may well start some unsuspecting tot on the road to becoming a linguist.

A very different kind of story for approximately the same age group is A PAIR OF RED CLOGS, an engaging tale by the young Japanese writer, Masako Matsuno.

Then, turning to our English cousins, the well-known archeologist and author, Leonard Cottrell, has written a fine book about everyday life in ancient Egypt, entitled LAND OF THE PHARAOHS. This is for adventurous people, but you'd better save it until your particular genius is at least 12.

When he or she is 12 or thereabouts, an introduction to the whole wide wonderful world can be had in a book that is not only beautiful, but superbly readable. This is PEOPLE AND PLACES by Dr. Margaret Mead, the anthropologist whose studies of young people all over the globe have given her an international reputation for science-made-human.

Finally, if that child of yours is determined to join the human race, give him EXPLORING SCIENCE. Jonathan Leonard, who wrote the book, has been exploring it in the pages of a leading magazine for many years, and this is his run-down on everything from heaven to earth. It even tells you why the sky is blue.

CLEAN WINDNOWS

Your eye-catching window decorations may attract only disapproving glances unless they are displayed through clean shining glass at Christmas. To achieve a favorable spectator effect, wash all windows with warm suds before you decorate. A little ammonia added to the suds will add sparkle.

FOR sophisticated belles on their Christmas lists, assistant Santas might choose the new smoky shades of sheer seamless stockings by Hanes, such as amber or black coffee. Sparkling nylon seamless stockings will make a hit, too. They're the last word in glamor for festive occasions. Either will win delighted exclamations on Christmas morning.

Vacuum Does Snow Job on Carpet

The surest way to remove artificial snow that sifts below the surface of rugs or carpets is to use the vacuum cleaner's vibrabeat nozzle. The beating-sweeping-suction action of this tool picks up all the deep-down particles which might damage carpet fibers. Vacuum pine needles from the floor with rug nozzle or floor brush.

If lint or wisps of cottom from Santa's Christmas costume have collected on his favorite chair, use the vacuum cleaner's upholstery tool to remove the traces.

Christmas wreaths and mantel decorations gather dust if you keep them on display for some time. Freshen them by vacuuming with a soft dusting brush. Reduce suction to a minimum to protect delicate ornaments, home care experts suggest.

Add a Christmas note to a plain buffet with little effort. Make a giant fan of silver or gold paper. Place it at the back of the buffet and set candles on either side of the fan.

CHRISTMAS card holder, designed by Kaye King of Hallmark Cards, is made of cardboard box and red gift paper. Decorative rosettes are of white self-adhering ribbon called Hall-Sheen.

Holiday Dance Party Proves Hit

Thousands of families find dancing parties make the holidays even more festive because they are enjoyed by young and old alike.

Once the party is over and the lights on the Christmas tree are extinguished until the next day, family and friends find themselves bound closer together in the brotherhood that is the hallmark of Christmas.

Mothers who have dancing parties for teen-agers say they are so popular that they earn them the title of the grandest "house mothers" on the street.

Holding a dancing party is easy. All that is needed are space in which to dance, records to provide the music an a buffet and punch for refreshments.

Most hostesses find Christmas decorations do double duty by adding a festive air to a dancing party. They avoid, however, allowing ceiling decorations to hang so low as to interfere with dancers.

"SNOW" REMOVAL

Yule Tradition

In the earliest days of Yule log fires, the new log was always lit with the charred remains of the log from the previous year. Thus good luck was carried over to the new.

It Has That Built-In Look

Electric Range With a Flair

Most wives have a habit of wanting to update their kitchens with built-in equipment. But, unfortunately, most family budgets won't stand the strain.

Still the man of the house can get around this difficulty and give his wife a most exciting Yuletide surprise. He can present her with one of the new upright electric ranges, which actually is free-standing but looks like a built-in unit.

This new type range slides into position just as easily as the conventional type, and when installed looks as though it has been built into the cainet arrangement.

For families that move about frequently, or who are planning to build a new house with the latest thing in kitchens, it's good to know that this free-standing unit with the built-in look can go rfght along and be installed with a minimum expense, just like a regular range.

Most of us think of oven doors as swinging out or dropping down when opened, but the doors of this range glide up out of the way and leave plenty of headroom for the tallest utensil. The ovens can be cleaned, without stretching and are easy to load and unload, too.

The doors are made of two panes of heat-tempered glass, enclosed in a bright chrome frame. An open-circle filigree pattern is traced in white between the panes.

This filigree pattern comes in handy if a friend drops in and catches the little woman before the oven has been cleaned. From across the room you can't see the interior at all.

Best of all, hubby can give his "ever loving" her present ahead of time, and there will be tasty Yule day delicacies for the entire family when Christmas day finally rolls 'round.

These Trees Bring Cheer to Millions

A white Christmas under palm trees? It's almost possible because of 1,500,000 36-inch high Christmas trees shipped all over the world. These trees from Minnesota are the tops of selected black spruce. They are just as likely to make their stand, come Christmas time, in the oil fields of Saudi Arabia as in a snowbound New Hampshire farmhouse or in the patio of a Hollywood hilltop home.

The reason they are such good travelers is "Liquid-Life," a special synthetic sap which guards the forest-freshness of Halvorson trees. It keeps the needles firmly in place throughout the season, above or below the equator, so there is no reason for anyone, anywhere to want for the traditional tree.

REMOVE STAINS

Even if you don't have time to completely launder your table linens directly after holiday meals, do try to remove the stains right away. This will prevent their setting in the fabric. Most stains may be removed from washable fabrics with soap or detergent suds if soaked or sponged almost as fast as they happen.

GIFTS FOR BABY

At Christmas give baby sturdy rattles; brightly colored objects to hang in view, large, soft, colored balls and push-pull toys with rounded edges. Stuffed animas or dolls make good toys for baby, as long as they don't have hard button eyes that can be pulled loose and swallowed.

Holly History

The traditional Christmas colors of red and green stem from the use of holly for decorative purposes. Davey tree experts advie that the holly is often called the Christ thorn because its leaves supposedly represent the crown of thorns. Thus when used for Christmas decoration it is usually fashioned into a wreath symbolic of the crown.

Hostesses Can Enjoy Holiday Parties

Freeze Sandwiches for Later Use

Too often the Christmas party hostess doesn't have as much fun as she should because she is too tired from last-minute preparation or too busy making snacks while the guests revel.

Join the party, is the advice Vapocan home economists gives smart hostesses, by preparing the food in advance, packaging it in square, waxed board home freezing containers and storing it in the freezer until needed.

Most hot and cold canapes and finger sandwiches can be readied days in advance, frozen,, and served just as fresh and tasty as when they were made.

Meat and fish spreads, cheeses and peanut butter are among the fillings that freeze well. There are many kinds of bread from which to choose, too. White, whole wheat, rye, pumpernickel, cracked wheat and date-nut bread are well recommended for freezing.

Place in square, waxed-board freezing containers, separating each layer of sandwiches with waxpaper or foil. Then seal by snapping on rigid plastic lids and mark contents on the lid identification band. Place in coldest part of the freezer.

Here is a party buffet surprise that can be home-frozen along with the rest of the food:

CRAB FONDUE IN TARTLET SHELLS

Two 10-ounce cans condensed cream of mushroom soup,1 3-ounce can sliced mushrooms and their liquid, two 6½-ounce cans crabmeat, 1-3 cup heavy cream, 1-3 cup chopped pimento, ¼ cup grated sharp American Cheese, 2 packages pie crust mix.

Combine all ingredients except pie crust mix. Blend well and spoon into 1½-pint size containers. Snap on plastic lids, and place in freezer. To serve, pour defrosted mixture in chafing dish and heat. Fills 36 tarts.

Bake at 400 degrees for 12 minutes. Cool, then place in freezer in containers. When ready to serve, heat on cookie sheet at 400 degrees for about five minutes. Spoon in filling.

THERE will be added joy for the children on Christmas day if a parakeet is among their gifts.

ASK AN EXPERT

Diamonds Sparkle For Gift Ideas

Designers today are producing diamond jewelry within everyone's reach. Unusual texture finishes, shadings of gold and platinum - gold combination settings give individuality.

What about a second or "late" diamond ring? Domes, swirls and a gardenful of flower designs executed in diamonds give tremandous variety to occasional rings available today. And you'll find lockets and pendants no longer conjure up thoughts of lavender and old lace. Heart and oval shapes continue to serve as basic choices, while three-dimensional floral motifs set with center diamonds enjoy popularity. Religious medals and crosses set with small diamonds are very meaningful at Yuletide while practicality combines with a luxurious touch in a monogram pin outlined in small round diamonds.

GIVE LACY TIGHTS

New lacy tights, made of stretch nylon, can be washed in suds, quickly dried, and will keep you comfortably warm. Make fine gifts for teen-agers.

Decorate Your Home With a New Painting

How about an artist's reproduction of a favorite painting? Or pay tribute to Mother's cookery with a colorful, yet useful herb chart to hang in her kitchen. When selecting art work, choose what the recipient likes.

A proper frame for a special print is the next consideration. The print itself is the most important in picking a frame. But, according to the Picture and Frame Institute, also consider furniture and room color plan.

LAUNDER CURTAINS

To avoid the Christmas rush, curtains should be laundered by mid-December. Only spotless, crisp curtains will provide attractive "frames" for your wreaths or other decorations.

Poinsettia Preservation

Keep that poinsettia you get for Christmas out of drafts, well watered, and don't let it become powder dry.

Lab Kits Cater to Boys' Eternal Love of Tinkering

THE JUNIOR navigator in the family can further his scientific knowledge with the new observatory set he gets for Christmas. Navigation is child's play with the sextant, constellation finder and star pointer contained in the set. Youngsters can even determine accurately the altitude of passing aircraft, and the height of mountains.

THE TINY "master builder" can now have a jumbo polyethylene plastic crane built to ride. Its steering mechanism operates at the touch of a finger. There are separate controls for the boom and loading hooks. The hook has a magnet that picks up metals as well as large plastic bricks. The bricks, of course, are also polyethylene.

THE WORLD of toys offers a new field of enterprise for young lads who have reached the age where they can handle more complicated building equipment. The latest version of girder panel building provides motorized parts, so that junior can build power operated structures such as suspension bridges that open.

SOMETHING old, something new in freight trains this year. A change from the modern trains is this Civil War vintage "Frontiersman," with a removable cannon for refighting the big battles with the Indians. Real smoke comes from the funnel stack. If Johnny can get Dad to play the Indian, he may get to run the trains himself.

Junior Bridge Is For Children

The only bridge game in the world invented exclusively for little children is available this Christmas. It's a boon to children who want to play real bridge just like mom and dad and their grownup friends, and a lifesaver for parents who want to play bridge without interruption from the small fry.

The children's bridge game has all the basic elements that make bridge so exciting. There are two red suits and two black suits — with a difference. Red suits are apples and strawberries; black are plums and blackberries. But there are no inferior suits in this bridge game. All suits have equal value, except numerically. Thus, a child may outbid by saying two of any suit, or three, etc.

Since children's hands are too small to hold a full 13-card bridge hand, the cards have been scaled down to comfortable smallness, and racks are provided on which they may be exposed to individual little players.

Still another assist to junior bridge players is a playing board on which tricks are built in a "playing area" and taken from there. The board is two-sided: one side for older children who need only identification as to North, South, East and West positions, and a reverse side for youngsters tive to about nine years of age. This side has markers indicating trumps, which suit is being played, which player won the bid, and a rim of numbers for easy scoring.

They're Ideal As Holiday Gifts

Step Out Smartly In New Shoes

To reverse things this Christmas, put a shoe in his sock. A pair of highly styled leather shoes are a gift that will surprise and delight him.

With the holiday social season ahead, he'll need new, brightshoes to give him just the right fashion footing. There are dozens of new styles in glove-soft smooth and grained leather shoes that look as good afoot as they feel. There are new deep tones of brown and combinations of olive, ivy and even shiny blacks.

It's no chore to give him a new foothold on fashion. All you have to do is copy off the size numbers from a pair of his shoes. The sales clerk at your shoe or department store will do the rest.

However, if you feel uncertain in the face of the new men's shoe styles, you can always play it safe by getting him a shoe-gift certificate from his favorite shoe store. They come handsomely wrapped or packaged and can be placed under the tree together with a pair of colorful socks.

The chances are that your favorite man has already been eyeing the new men's shoe styles. He may favor a dressy smooth leather slip-on, with moc-front toe and black sole-edge trim that sets off gleaming brown uppers, or his taste may run to the new four-eyelet bal shoes that use reversed seaming as a decorative effect.

And—since it's a gift—he can take advantage of your thoughtfulness and indulge in a luxurious pair of gleaming real patent leather shoes for The Big Party when he dances in the New Year with you.

He may use your gift to get himself a pair of the newest shoes to walk onto the menswear scene—the "hi-light" or "high-riser." Cut higher in front and back, the new shoe teams neatly with the higher, narrower cuffs of this year's suits.

Even if he's well stocked with business and dress shoes, your gift can't go amiss. This season, there's a wealth of new casual shoes for every taste, reports Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America. Whether he leans to the tailored British look, Continental styles, or is of the Ivy League school of thought, he'll find his preference in the newest leather shoes.

Use Fireplace to Advantage on Dec. 25

An arrangement of greens with candles of different heights also is charming or you might create a Victorian effect. Do this with a large gold rope tied with tassels and strung across the mantel with greens banked on top.

Whatever the decoration, though, be sure the mantel is perfectly clean. The hearth, too, should have a thorough scrubbing for this special season.

TOY SAFETY

According to the National Safety Council, estimate your child's ability to handle a toy safely before you buy a toy, and make sure the toy itself is safe.

THIS YOUNG fellow was well-treated by Santa this year. St. Nick trimmed his bike with mirror, flags, handlebar streamers, plastic handlebar wraparounds and body tubing, hub-lights, saddle bags, fox tail and pedal-putter.

Mistletoe Kissing Is the Berries

One of the happiest customs of the Christmas season is stealing a kiss under the mistletoe. To adhere strictly to the old Norse tale from which this pleasant pastime springs, bussers should pluck one of the white berries for each kiss.

According to Davey tree experts when the berries are gone, the sprig loses its magic power to bring happiness.

Dolls Can Walk, Talk Are Loveable

There'll be a record crop of cuddlesome baby dolls, many of them life size, molded carefully to correspond with the exact dimensions of the newborn, the six months old cherub, the year old toddler and up, Toy Guidance Council reports. There will be more child size dolls than ever, and they'll walk, talk and look like real children.

And, right along with the big-as-life-doll cycle, there continues a fascinating variety of miniature doll beauties with new style emphasis on hairdos, frequently executed in a new carrot red shade, as well as blonde and brunette hues.

The 1960 miniature doll's wardrobe is high styled and imaginatively accessorized. Miniatures represent every age group from crib to college. There are an increasing number of mother-daughter combinations and a variety of glamorous brides. New is a miniature career girl dall complete with commuter's brief case.

Freckles are more in evidence in the Christmas doll parade than they've been for years. The trend to big dolls has affected even uch classic favorites as Raggedy Ann, now bowing in a 36-inch size.

The popularity of large dolls has had immediate impact on doll furniture designs and doll clothing. The chairs, bed, carriage and wardrobe of the well-equipped toddler doll, life size variety, can be useful to any family's own toddler, too. In fact, their possessions can be interchangeable. And the doll baby's equipment, too, is hard to differentiate from the real live counterpart in the bassinet.

Among new thrills for doll mothers is Chatty Cathy, a talented dolly equipped with a pull ring mechanism that delivers 11 different sentences that are typical of toddler conversation. Furthermore the messages come in varying order, that the surprise element is constant.

Children's enthusiasm for creating their own versions of high style fashions is catered to with various new sewing aids and pattern and accessory kits. A favorite is a couturier kit for Magic Mary, a magnetized doll whose costumes adhere with perfect fit without any sewing.

The future generations should be adept indeed at hairdressing to judge by the enthusiasm with which doll owners tackle the challenge of hair care. The modern miracle of rooted synthetic hair makes endless experiment entirely practical.

The doll's role in teaching good grooming continues to expand. Many kits encourage care of the skin and teeth as well as the hair.

IMPROVE DRAPERIES

Seasonal drapery changes involving unpinning and repinning before and after cleaning or laundering needn't mean rips and tears in the fabric any more. Just machine-sew a new type of pinstrip made of "Zytel" nylon resin into pleats. Drapery hooks slip into channels provided by the strips, which may be laundered or cleaned with fabric.

Advice to the Girls:

Think of the Man When You Buy Toiletries For Him

Ordinarily, women are shrewd shoppers in buying gifts for men. But when it comes to buying men's toiletries, more often than not, they're short-changed. The reason?

"Women know less about men's grooming aids than nearly any other product that they purchase," according to Jack Doran, director of marketing for Citation House, a manufacturer of prestige men's toiletries. "For example, our studies have shown that many women don't know what such things as after-shave and pre-shave lotions are supposed to do."

The result, says Mr. Doran, is that women buy these things on impulse—usuall choosing bottles and boxes, not products. And, since bottles and boxes do not have an effect on the man looking forward to using the toiletries, the gifts may wind up consigned to a shelf.

Always buy them in a "family" gift-set that employs the same aroma for each item. That way, they won't clash.

Be awart of masculine eye appeal in the containers. Men don't care much for an ornate look, but prefer a simple, distinctively designed container that will fit easily into a medicine cabinet or give "status" to an exposed shelf.

Be certain of the type of shaver used by the man who'll receive the gift. If he uses a safety razor, pre-shave lotion is useless to him. But if he uses an electric haver, he'll welcome it.

Talc, remember, is used to remove facial shine and to refresh the face after shaving. It helps give a fresh-shaved look to men with especially dark beards.

Cologne serves a completely different function from after-shave lotion. Men use cologne after a shower as a "booster" to provide refreshing feeling and to give them a pleasant aroma in a hurry. A cologne even acts as a deodorant on the chest, arms and legs. It's a fine afternoon refresher, too, after a long business session.

Remember Musicians When You Start Yule Purchases

Easy-to-play musical instruments that fit personalities as well as pocketbooks can be this year's easy-to-make desicions on what to give people who "have everything."

New portable electrics, from $100, can be played virtually at once. Consoles, from $500, require about three months of instruction and practice.

The recorder, a flute-like instrument, fits almost every musical preference. Often used in grade schools as an introduction to formal music instruction, recorders are equally popular among chamber music lovers. They start at $5.

Other quick-to-learn instruments include the accordion, a variety of drums and the harmonica. Accordions and drums start at $40; harmonicas at 75 cents.

DRESS UP THE COOK

You may not feel like a delicate Victorian lady while cooking the Christmas dinner, but you can look like one in a crystal pleated cotton apron, printed in a dainty cameo design. An extra cameo that snaps on at the waist is a handy potholder.

Decorative Sprays Must Wash Off

If you use a special spray to make glitter and baubles adhere to the surfaces you wish to decorate, just be sure to select a product which can be washed with soap or detergent suds.

This is important because sprays usually drift on to furniture and other nearby surfaces, and you'll want to be able to get it off with a minimum of effort.

'Kitchen Pretties' Are Practical

The approaching holiday season brings with it the problem of the appropriate gift for each one on your shopping list. When selecting a gift, it's always wise to choose something that is both pretty and practical: If it can be used all year round, so much the better.

A gift for the home is ideal for any homemaker or career girl with her own apartment. Combination gifts with a special fillip are always fun to give and receive, and they do reflect thought and effort.

Normally, this type of combination gift has to be scouted out to find the perfect "go-togethers." But an entire group of useful and pretty combination packages, such as those created by Morgan Jones, will delight the recipient, and won't break the bank for you.

POP AND the boys usually hog the toy railroad, but Mom should get into the act, too. She can help set the scenery, and if she carefully reads all the literature that comes with the train set, she might be given turn at the switch.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Readers: People can get themselves worked up into a lather over the darnedest things. One of the fascinating aspects of writing this column is the variety of wildly contradictory responses from the readers.

I plucked these American beauties from the mail of the past few weeks. The following hullabaloo has to do with the picture that runs with the column.—ANN LANDERS.

KALAMZOO, Mich.: That picture that appeals every day with your column, Ann Landers—well, I'm fed up looking at your sickening grin six days a week.

CLEVELAND: On days when I haven't time to read your column I just look at your picture. You are beautiful.

TULSA, Okla.: I love your column but I have to put my thumb over your picture. You write well but you're not much to look at, Kiddo.

ST. LOUIS: Some days they forget to put in your picture. It makes me mad when I have to hunt for your column. This is a complaint, Madame.

LOUISVILLE: Why do newspaper columnists run pictures of themselves that are 30 years old? You can't be as young as you look in our paper.

CHICAGO: I've counted five different column pictures of you in the past three months. Boy, are you conceited!

Young Legree

Dear Ann Landers: This problem may be out of season but I want to get it squared away so by next spring I'll have it settled.

Last summer my dad and I bought a power mower. We each chipped in $20. Dad said he'd supply the gas and oil and I could cut the neighbor's grass and make some money.

I made a deal with the neighbor at $2.50 a cutting. I earned enough money during the summer to cover the $20 I had invested.

In the middle of the summer my brother who is 13 said he'd like to make some money, too, so I told him I'd pay him 50 cents every time he cut the neighbor's lawn for me. My family said I cheated him and that he should get at least $1 since he was doing all the work.

On the last cutting they raised so much thunder I had to pay him the dollar. I think I was cheated. Do you?—BOSS.

Dear Boss: You were born 100 years too late. You would've made a great plantation owner. Sorry, but I'm for a fair minimum wage. Your parents did the right thing by intervening in behalf of your exploited brother. It's true that you risked the capital for the initial investment but there's something immoral about slave wages.

Ann Landers will be glad o help you with your probl ems. Send them to her in care of The Ann Landers will be glad to Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hanoverton

The Wednesday Nite-Owl Club met with Mrs. Camille Kelon recently. The evening was spent making Thanksgiving favors. Door prize was won by Mrs. Pat Graber. The next meeting will be a dinner party at Grady's restaurant, Dec. 14, with a Christmas exchange.

Mrs. Pearl Carle was hostess to the Pedro Club Monday, following luncheon at Tom's restaurant. Game honors went to Mrs. Myrtle Altenhof, Mrs. Mary Wolf and Mrs. Elma Ray. Names were exchanged for the Christmas party. Mrs. Mary Lindesmith will be hostess in two weeks.

The men of the parish were hosts when 16 tables were in play in St. Philip-Neri church parish hall for the annual Thanksgiving party. Game prizes were won by Mrs. Nora Kibler, Edwin Copeland, Dorothy Mundy and Marcel Bielski. Other prize winners were Dale Mountz, Joseph Zenthenbauer, Paul Zenthebauer, Mary A Furey, Agnes Mundy, Lee Wilson and Clifford Wickersham. Next party to be held Dec. 1.

Twelve members were present for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Camille Kelton when she was hostess to the Matrons Club.

Plans were made for the Christmas party Dec. 11 at Salem Golf Club with husbands as guests when the Nifty Nine Club met with Mrs. Clyde Allen Thursday evening. Five hundred was the evening's diversion. Game honors were won by Mrs. Harry Drake, Mrs. Van Mills, Mrs. Harry Reeder and Mrs. Lee Bowman. Mrs. Drake will receive her associates in her home for the January meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Powell of NewAlexander visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Andre.

PERK UP BEDROOM

If you want to add luxury to your bedroom at Christmas, try a bed cover of nylon velvet fabric. Although fabric is fragile in appearance, it will go right into suds and emerge as fresh and delicate as when new.

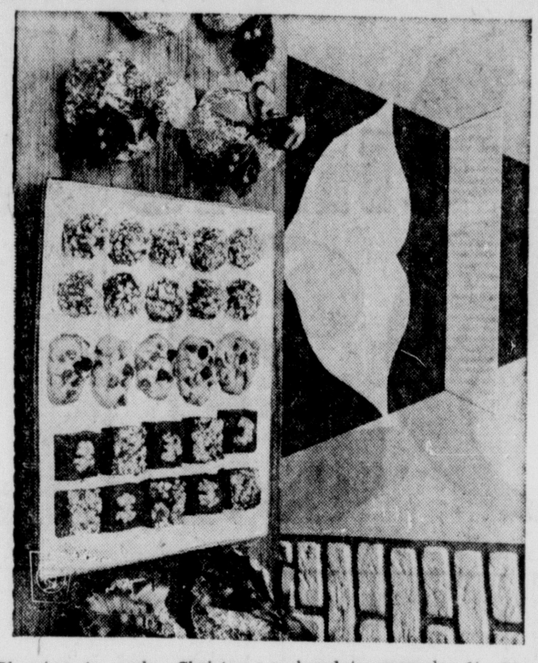

MOUTH—WATERING

For a delicious holiday dessert, blend whipped cream, coconut flakes and chopped nuts into canned applesauce. Spoon into your prettiest sherbet dishes—and serve with delight.

Picture This

Cookies, Candies for Traveling

Planning to make Christmas cookies and candies to send to distant friends and relatives? Then be sure you choose recipes that will travel well.

Squares of aluminum foil, folded around the cookies or candy, decorated with ribbon and holly, make beautiful Santa Claus sacks to send your presents in. Let the youngsters make the sacks as their part in Christmas giving.

Florentine Dainties (Yield: About 6 dozen cookies)

Two eggs, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup sifted flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, one 6-ounce package (1 cup) semisweet chocolate morsels, ½ cup finely cut dates, ½ cup chopped walnuts, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind.

Combine eggs and sugar and beat until thick and lemon colored. Sift in flour and salt. Stir in remaining ingrediets.

Drop by rounded teaspoons, 2 inches apart, on a well-greased baking sheet. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Remove immediately from baking sheet.

Choco-Nut Fudge (Yield: 2 pounds)

One and one-third cups evaporated milk, 1 cup sugar, two 6-ounce packages (1 cup each) semisweet chocolate morsels OR one 12ounce jumbo package semisweet chocolate morsels, ½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts.

Combine evaporated milk and sugar in a 3-quart saucepan. Place over moderate heat and bring to a full rolling boil, stirring constantly. Then continue to boil vigorously seven minutes longer, stirrig constantly.

Remove from heat; add semisweet chocolate morsels and stir until smooth. Turn into buttered 8x8x2-inch aluminum foil-lined baking pan. Sprinkle nuts over surface, pressing firmly into fudge. Chill. Cut into 1½-inch squares.

Variations:

1. Omit chopped walnuts from recipe; press a walnut half into the surface of each square.
2. When semisweet chocolate morsels are melted and mixture is smooth, add ½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts to fudge before turning into pan. Omit pressing nuts into surface.
3. When semisweet chocolate morsels are melted and mixture is smooth, allow to cool slightly. Shape fudge into 1-inch balls and roll in finely chopped walnuts until surface is coated.

STOCKING GIFT

Gay, decorated shower caps and make-up capes have all but replaced the drab, strictly utilitarian ones of a few years ago and make pretty stocking stuffers.

China Inventory

A sudsing is in order for the special crystal and china you use only at holiday time. To avoid a last-minute scramble, inspect it and put it into good shape well in advance of holiday party time.

Mrs. Wehr Re-elected President

Ellsworth Farm Women's Unit Helps Hospital, County Home

ELLSWORTH — Thirty members of the women's organization of the Mahoning County Farm Bureau went to Woodside Receiving Hospital recently for their monthly meeting to learn what they could do to help in the program of the hospital.

Mr. Naples, head coordinator, John Birchall, recreation director and Margaret Watters, therapy teacher, explained the work and listed many things needed in the rehabilitation program.

The women's organization planned to return to the Hospital with a program and gifts for a Christmas party for 50 of the guests Dec. 16. On Dec. 12 they will go to the Mahoning County Home with a program and gifts for the 35 women and 110 men in the Home.

Mrs. Vern Wehr of Ellsworth was re-elected chairman; Mrs. Howard Withers, vice chairman; Mrs. Mollie Kurtz, secretary; Mrs. Cecil Eckman, legislative chairman; Mrs. Mark Myers, publicity.

Mrs. Eckman will attend the leadership workshop in Columbus Nov. 29 and 30 as Mr. and Mrs. Wehr will be in New Orleans at this time, attending the National Dairy meeting.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY of the United Presbyterian Church met at the church recently when Mrs. Merle Hanna was hostess for a dessert luncheon. Mrs. George Schaeffer had the study hour.

Western Reserve P.T.O has started its drive for membership and ask all parents and helpers to get their membership fees to the officers of the organization

Officers Council of Mahoning County Granges met at Ellsworth Center Grange with 50 members present for a coverdish dinner. Harry Watkins, Pomona master, held a short business meeting, followed by discussion groups for each office.

Eight women from Ellsworth attended the 14th Family Life Institute in Youngstown YMCA. Part were representaives of he Western Reserve P.T.O. and some from the Ellsworth Extension Club.

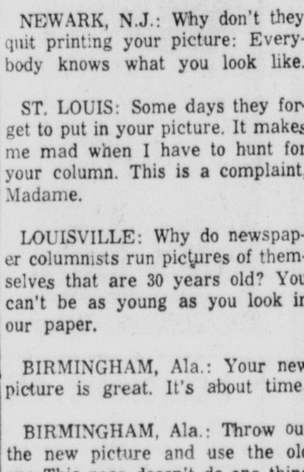

Mr. and Mrs Herman Behe, who live on Rt 224 west of Ellsworth, are the parents of a son, born Nov. 15 in Salem City Hospital.

Elders of the United Presbyterian Church met at the home of Hugh Bowman to plan for a financial survey of the church membership.

A portrait photograph is among the most appreciated of Christmas gifts. If you plan to give one this year, professional photographers advise making an appointment as early as possible.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

There was Jimmy Hoffa sitting at his picture window after he had electronically drawn several miles of curtain from in front of it. All you could see was the man and the Capitol of the United States. And you had no doubt — in this recently filmed interview — who Hoffa thought was bigger.

Victor Riesel

He isn't. It will depress him to discover this in the next few weeks as investigations of him and his brethren close in.

It is not so much the government which is significant now. It is the people. Especially the men of toil, corny as it may sound, who keep America on wheels. They are closing in on his robot barons. There will be hundreds of teamster elections across the country in early December.

Soon there will be, for example, one such election for officers in Local 282, Construction Material Haulers, long the barony — at $25,000 a year, plus expenses — of Hoffa's top eastern aide and confidante Johnny O'Rourke. It was the latter who replaced a "stand up" guy, a crusader with guts named "Honest" Tom Hickey as eastern teamsters vice president.

THE NIGHT of Monday, Nov. 14, there were 2,000 strong men with stronger voices in New York's Manhattan Center Hall. They were there to nominate candidates for Local 282 offices — the presidency of which is held — and I mean "held" by O'Rourke.

He was nominated. And thousands booed. He rose to the call of the wildly angry men. In full tradition he put his fingers to his nose and thumbed it at them. Then he sent a fellow up to sign the acceptance slip.

The opposition got a four-minute ovation.

Thus did this jury of Hoffa's peers express its opinions of one vice president. Another jury—federally impaneled by the Justice Department — across the river in New Jersey had something to say that same day about another teamsters national vice president.

The panel indicted vice president Tony Provenzano, the head of Local 540, the leader of all Jersey truckers, on charges of extorting $17,000 from a trucking corporation.

HE WAS ACCUSED of violating the Hobbs Act section which says that whoever in any way obstructs or affects commerce by robbery or extortion, or attempts or conspires to do so, is punishable by imprisonment and a heavy fine.

Extortion is defined as the obtaining of property from another without his consent by wrongful use of actual or threatened force, or violence or fear, or under color of "official right."

Mark well these sections. You will hear much of them from the Justice Department from now on.

And you will hear from the federal grand jury, which has been sitting in Orlando, Fla. It took a holiday. Now it is again looking into charges that the teamsters provisional president misused $500,000 of Detroit Teamsters funds in a retirement housing sub-division near Orlando. This is the ill famed Sun Valley project.

THERE ARE OTHER probes against other teamsters on other charges. But none, it seems to me, will ever match what I consider James Hoffa's most daring defiance of what should be the basic, ethical concept of those who lead labor. It came during a TV interview over WNTA the other day.

As the camera caught Hoffa against the panorama of the Capitol, he said there was no reason why a labor leader should not be in business.

He disdainfully added, without waiting to be asked, that there was no reason why a labor leader should not buy a business in the very field in which he negotiates.

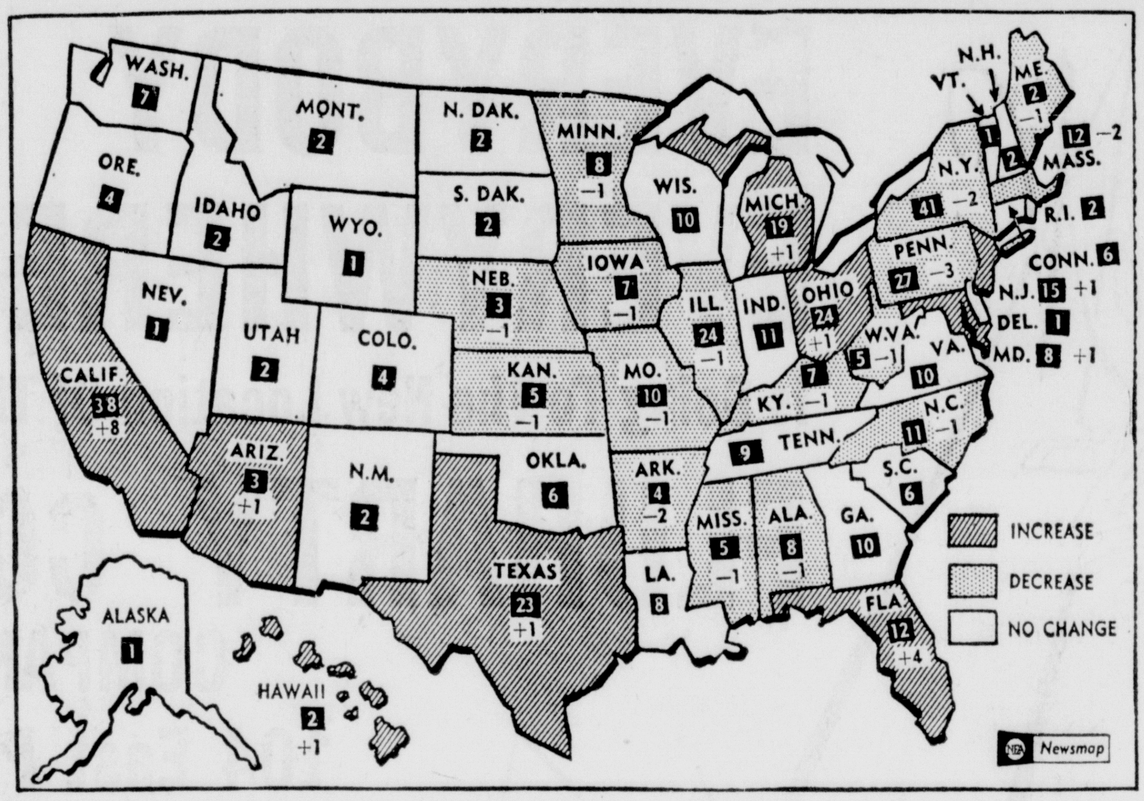

Apparently he saw no conflict between leading a union and competing with businessmen who employe the union men for whom he negotiates. Nowhere in the world have I encountered such blunt admission of bigness, including his imperiously calling himself Hoffa.

Hoffa will fin there is something bigger—the Capitol and the people for which it stands, including somemight y honest teamsters.

NEAT and compact in design, the Redi-Baker makes a useful gift. It will bake anything from appetizers to apple pie and makes an attractive table accessory as well. Its Dial-a-Recipe heat control saves Mom's steps.

AMERICANS FOLLOW THE SUN — Nine States, led by California and Florida, were awarded addition seats in the U.S. House of Representatives due to population shifts during the 1950s. Sixteen other states lost seats. Newsmap details the reapportionment which becomes effective for the 88th Congress which will be elected in 1962. Then the House goes back to its normal 435 members. It was raised temporarily to 437 last year for Hawaii and Alaska.

Letters to Canada Mexico Need 4 Cents

Postmaster O. C. Hoover cautioned the mailing public today, that there is no 3 cent mailing rate to Canada or Mexico.

Any Christmas greetings to Canada or Mexico must have at least 4 cent postage whether sealed or unsealed. Otherwise they will end up in the "dead letter office" and probably never reach the addres- the deficient postage.

HOW TO FIREPROOF

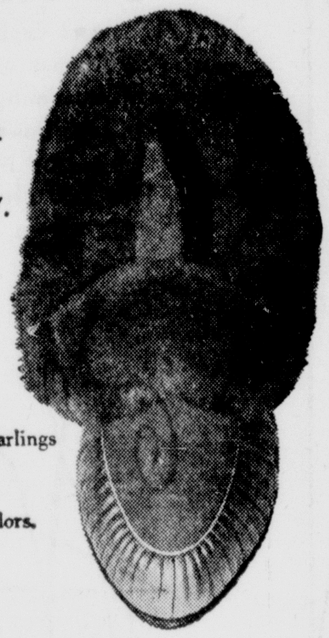

Never use untreated paper ornaments or untreated cotton batting or gauze for decorations. They can be made flame-resistive by dipping in a gallon of water mixed with nine ounces of borax and four ounces of boric acid.

Pumpkin Chiffon Torte Has Cereal Crust

There are many occasions when you want to serve a dessert that is different. Such a dessert is pumpkin chiffon torte with a ginger-almond-cereal crust.

For a crisp and crunchy torte, choose a clear, low-humidity day to make this recipe. If the humidity is high, you will have a chewy crust—either type goes well with the spicy pumpkin chiffon filling.

4 cups oven-toasted rice cereal, ¾ cup thinly sliced or slivered blanched almonds, ¼ cup finely chopped preserved ginger, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ cup water, 2 tablespoons light corn syrup, 2 tablespoons syrup from preserved ginger, 2 envelopes plain gelatin, ½ cup cold water, 2 eggs, separated, 1¼ cups milk, 1¼ cups sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups canned pumpkin, 1½ teaspoons cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon ginger, 1 cup whipping cream, whipped.

Combine oven-toasted rice cereal, almonds, and ginger in a large buttered bowl. Combine sugar, water, and syrups in saucepan. Cook slowly until syrup reaches the hard ball stage (250 Deg. F).

Pour syrup over cereal in a fine stream. Toss lightly to coat cereal evenly with syrup mixture; press evenly over bottom and sides of buttered 10-inch springform pan. Chill thoroughly.

Stir in 1 cup sugar and salt. Heat slowly to simmering stage, stirring frequently. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Combine pumpkin and spices; mix well. Stir in hot milk mixture.

Chill until set 2-3 way in from edge of bowl. Beat egg whites until they form soft peaks. Add remaining ¼ cup sugar gradually and continue beating until eggs are stiff and glossy.

Whip pumpkin mixture until smooth; fold in egg whites and then whipped cream. Pour into crust and chill until firm. Serve plain or topped with whipped cream and chopped preserved ginger or toasted almonds. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

Hunters are learning there is a new safety color—yellow. So when buying a sportsman a new hunting jacket don't overlook one in this shade, even though you thought the red wool jockets were bright enough.

Savings of the average American household now approximate $5,500 - highest on record. More banks use newspapers for their advertising than any other medium. In fact, more than use TV, radio and magazines combined.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

List Irritations, Get Advice

Here are some suggestions for those of you who have been disappointed with the results of symptomatic treatment of a nervous or mental disturbance or who have been unable to obtain satisfactory psychotherapy.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

Sit down quietly and write down exactly what troubles you. Don't bother about penmanship, punctuation, spelling, grammar or any other unimportant detail. If you think you will do better if you address yourself to someone other than yourself, make believe your writing to me.

Next put down what you think causes your trouble. If you're nervous or depressed, itemize the things, situations or people who make you nervous or depressed.

NOW ITEMIZE the things, situations or people that don't make you nervous or depreed or even make you feel better. Then try to figure out why these things, situations or people react on you the way they do.

When you have everything scrawled down, read over what you have written. Then try to reassemble what you've got in a more orderly and readable fashion.

As soon as your notes are in good shape, go over them with an older friend. Don't choose a member of the household. Preferably select a respected aunt or uncle or grandparent who lives under a different roof or a teacher, a former teacher or a neighbor whose own way of life provides an enviable example to your community.

AFTER YOU'VE made whatever corrections, additions or omissions were suggested by your friendly counselor, visit your doctor and request a complete physical examination. Many nervous and mental disturbances are merely local manifestations of a systemic disturbance outside the nervous system.

Sluggishness and depression may be due to thyroid deficiency, nervousness and restlessness to thyroid overactivity, mental deficiency to a chemical disorder.

If your physician expresses the opinion that your complaint is "nervous" and unrelated to any finding rvealed during his examination, ask for an appointment outside of office hours for a leisurely discussion of your problem. Assure him that you will regard the visit as a professional service, not a favor or an imposition.

At this visit, review your notes as briefly a possible. Later, when he has expressed his opinion of what' best for you to do, ask for a later appointment after you've had a chance to consider whatever he's suggested and done whatever you could do to carry out his suggestions.

CHRISTMAS SAFETY

For Christmas safety at home, the International Association of Fire Chiefs advises: Choose a small tree and set it up away from radiators, heaters or fireplaces. Stand it in water to retard drying, use fireproof decorations, and when it starts to dry out, discard it.

DISPEL CONFUSION

Good trick to keep rubbers and rainwear from getting separated or mislaid: supply each small child with brightly painted clothespins with his initials on them to clip rubbers and galoshes in pairs, and rain hat to raincoat.

Project Unusual For Urban County

Soil Inventory In Mahoning County to Require 2 Years

Mahoning County will be the first urban county in Ohio to have a complete inventory of its soils.

This is announced by Samuel Bone, extension agronomist representing the Ohio Soil Survey Board. The Soil Inventory Board is made up of representatives of all the agricultural agencies in Ohio.

At a meeting held in Canfield Monday, the plans for the survey were outlined to the groups that will be best able to use and coordinate this information. These included Dean Beardsley and Robert Hammett of the Mahoning Soil Conservation District, Dr. R. W. Fenton and Vern Struble of the Mahoning County Health District, Miller Foulk, realtor; J. C. Ryan of the Mahoning County Planning Commission, Oscar Mayerhofer and John Davidson of Mahoning County engineer's office, Lyle Richards of the Mahoning County Farm Bureau, Robert Dickson, State ASC fieldman; T. W. Richards and Lauren Moff of the Mahoning County ASC Office, and Robert Groves of the Mahoning County Extension Service.

Acre-By-Acre Study

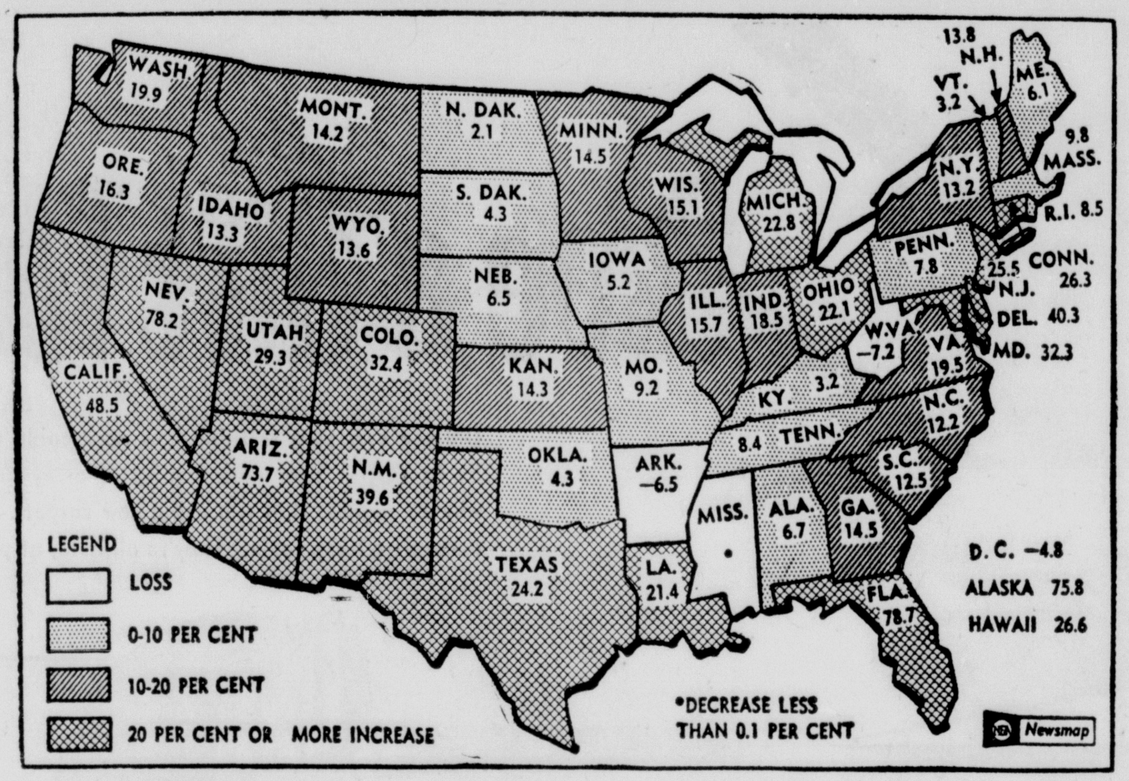

The soil inventory will include information regarding the drainage, productivity, soil characteristics, erosion and geological data. This will be done on an acre-by-acre basis until the whole county has been systematically mapped.

It is estimated that it will take approximately two years to complete the field work.

The party chief for the operation will be H. D. Lessig, soil scientist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. Assisting in the mapping operation will be William Hale and Paul Reese, also of the Soil Conservation Service.

William Phillips, Mahoning County agricultural agent, and Fred Merrill, Soil Conservation Service, will be in charge of the local arrangements and will provide liaison work for the survey and local organizations.

After the survey is completed, it will provide basic research data for fertility recommendations, soil and water conservation planning, erosion, control and water management. It will also contain vital information for the County Board of Health, the County Engineers, the Planning Commission, realtors and the County Commissioners.

POPULATION EXPLOSION — In the biggest 10-year jump ever, the nation's population rose by 27,997,377 from April 1, 1950, to April 1, 1960. The national increase was a whopping 18.5 per cent. Newsmap above, released by Commerce Department and based on Census Bureau figures, shows the per cent change in population by states. Only Arkansas, Mississippi, West Virginia and the District of Columbia, unshaded areas, showed losses. Ohio, as noted on map, had a 22.1 per cent increase.

Drain on U.S. Gold, Dollar Resources Poses Problems

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

U. S. troubles with the drain on its gold and dollar resources could create an atmosphere of apprehension among America's friends—and satisfaction for the Communists.

Unless the United States finds means of correcting the situation, the squeeze in which it finds itself conceivably could accomplish for the Communists some of the things they have been unable to do themselves.

The situation could create embarrassment for America's friends. It could raise worry about the health of the North Atlantic Alliance. It could arouse uneasiness about the future of U. S. aid programs for underdeveloped countries.

We are spending, investing or giving away abroad more than we take in from foreign spending and investments. This is called an "unfavorable balance of international payments." The nagging question arises: How long can U. S. economic strength withstand the strain of vast investments in a global cold war contest?

But the deficit comes from spending for military, economic and technical aid, maintenance of troops and bases, U. S. travelers' expenditures, short-term investments in thing like the West European construction boom and other U.S. private capital investment. Since 1958, the over-all deficit has been well in excess of $3 billion annually.

To stem some of the dollar outflow, President Eisenhower ordered a reduction in the number of families of U. S. servicemen overseas. Already this has brought guarded European speculation about future unity of the Atlantic Alliance How long, some Europeans ask, will the next U. S. administration be able to withstand pressure to bring home American troops, too?

There are other haunting questions. Will U. S. aid to underdeveloped nations be cut? Will there be new U. S. restrictions on imports? Will U. S. aid now take on a frankly political character, pinpointed—as Soviet programs are—to areas where it will do the most good the soonest?

The Russians, exuding satisfaction, openly boat that they hope to undermine world confidence in the dollar. They speak hopefully of an imminent "general crisis of capitalism."

Soviet Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov in a Pravda article discussing the recent ruble revaluation laid all U. S. monetary problems to military spending at "the arms race," which he said would undermine Western currencies while the ruble's prestige would soar.

But the fact that Moscow has its own fiscal troubles is little solace for Americans facing a complex international payments situation which could have lasting adverse impact on U. S. cold war efforts.

The situation, say experts in such complicated affairs, simply must be corrected, to guarantee future confidence abroad in the dollar's value

SENTENCED TO LIFE

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—A plea of guilty to a second-degree murder charge in the stabbing of his wife, Vergie Mae, 32, last May 24 brought Charles Goody, 35, o Rittman, a life sentence Tuesday. Common Pleas Judge Adrian Miller granted a request by Goody to be allowed to place a wreath on his wife's grave before he was taken to Ohio Penitentiary. Prosecutor James K. Leedy said he could not prove premeditation and agreed to the lesser charge for Goody, who was to have gone on trial Nov. 28 on a first-degree murder charge.

No Booby Trap

Parents Cautioned to Buy Only Harmless Toys for Children

That's the advice of the National Safety Council, a nongovernmental agency organized in 1913 to prevent all kinds of accidents — including those involving children's "harmless" toys.

"Some of the toys given youngsters as Christmas gifts," said Phil Dykstra, the Council's director of home safety, "can be lethal weapons.

"Not all the blame for toys that become hazardous to children after a few hours' use should go to the manufacturers," he said.

"Parents have as much — if not more — responsibility for toy safety as the manufacturers."

While Dykstra said he believes toy makers should keep safety foremost in mind — "And most reputable toy manufacturers do" — he recommends the following for parents:

1. Buy toys that do not have small removable parts or such unsafe parts as eye-threatening pieces of metal. "Learn from experience — and from other parents — what types of toys most often cause trouble."

2. Buy toys suited for the child at his particular age. "A chemistry set in the hands of a 5-year-old might be a deadly weapon. But it's not necessarily a bit unsafe for an older child who has been properly trained and supervised."

3. Supervise use of toys your children get for Christmas.

Shopping Guides Are Often Helpful

Salem stores shelves and counters are laden with countless articles that would make excellent gifts for any member of the family but shopping for just the right gift usually presents a problem of decision. Here's a few hints:

Any man with money in his pocket can buy his wife exotic perfume at $50 an ounce, and deck her out in plum-colored velvet lounging pajamas.

This Christmas he might well give his wife something continuing, that will last long after the Christmas wrappings have been thrown away. It could be a subscription to a concert series; membership in a monthly gourmet club, where a surprise package from countries far away arrives each month, or membership in a monthly record, book, or art club.

If she's avid for culture, and feels her brains are stultifying, he could underwrite a course at the community adult school, or a book and author luncheon series. If she's housebound most of the time, it might be the price of a once-a-week baby sitter, so she can count on getting away from children and chores.

CAN HE GIVE HER something to make life easier? A horde of labor-saving devices are on the market, which will grind, blend, beat, sear and turn with no manual effort involved. But keep the household's kind of living in mind before making a heavy investment in gadgets. They will be labor-saving only if they are used.

Give her something for fun. It can be a surprise evening out, with husband arranging all details in secrecy, even if the evening is nothing more than the drive - in movie and a stop for pizza after the show It's the surprise element that's important here. If she's sports-minded, give her that new badminton racket she would like, or a membership in the local bowling team. Or be completely uninhibited, and stick a flute or a drum from the 10-cent store in her stocking, for some after-Christmas merriment.

Something of glamor is an inspiration for any woman. Buy her the kind of gift she thinks she can't afford for herself. This requires being on the alert through the year for those moments when the wife says: "I'd love to have a ..." The glamor may be nothing more costly than a big bottle of pine bubble bath or a veil - hat sprinkled with rhinestones But it can make the wife feel more like a woman than a slave.

HOW ABOUT A PRESENT for the spirit, a gift that is neither efficient nor practical? Inexpensive reproductions of masterpieces are readily available. Museums offer bargain copies of pieces of sculpture that are as faithful in feeling as the original. A piece of beautiful glass or a pewter pitcher may not be used, but can be lovely to look at.

And since Christmas is not just for today, give her something for her dreams. She wants to travel, and there are too many family obligations. Let her travel vicariously with a sheaf of cruise folders and package plans. Or she wishes the family could have a boat .. someday, maybe There are books and magazines galore on family cruising for escape reading.

IN THE FAMILY EXCITEMENT over Christmas for the children, father is likely to be low man on the totem pole—paying the bills, but putting his own wants last.

This situation can be remedied if the wife takes a little time to analyze just what the head of the house yearns for, but never says.

What would he enjoy alone, away from the family? If he's a fixer, she can add to his collection of cherished tools so his projects can be expanded. If he'd like to be a fixer, but has no place to call his own, perhaps she can dedicate a part of the basement or a corner of the garage where he can utter undisturbed.

What would he like to enjoy with the family? Christmas is a game-giving time, so consider the merits of croquet or horseshoes. Or choose from a horde of table games which all can enjoy.

WHT WOULD HELP him in his work? If he's a man who must drive a great deal, a car map case—with pockets for cigarettes, flashlight, notebook—is an efficient organizer. Or if his brief case has had it, invest in a new one, perhaps the attache type which will make him look as successful as he would like to be. If much of his work is done at the desk at home, give his work place a new lease on life with an attractive desk set.

What would he like to add to his collection? Whether he is interested in old maps, putting boats in bottles, or running model trains, there's always more to be had, to make his leisure-time pursuits more fun.

What would he like that's totally different? The world is filled with husbands on their way up who've never stopped for hobbies. Christmas is the time to introduce a new lease on life, to suggest—subtly—that a litle leisure is good for any man. An experimental—and inexpensive—set of oil paints or charcoals may startle him at first, then interest him as a relaxer. Music may be the answer, and a ukelele --shades of his youth!—may be fun, once he stops being self-conscious about it.

WHAT WOULD HE like to keep him young at heart? Breadwinning takes a lot out of a man, and responsibilities make him forget he was ever carefree. Sign him up for a ballroom dancing course, so he and the samba can get acquainted. If there's dust on the golf bag, buy him a new club as a gentle suggestion. Or if he complains that his muscles are tension-bound, underwrite an executive-type session at the YMCA, where the punching bag and the steam table will take years from his life.

What can she give to pamper her husband? Christmas is a good time to indulge his whims, a time to throw good sense out the picture window. It might be a tobacco he doesn't buy for himself, a striking tattersall vest, a really elegant travelling kit, or a good-looking bottle of spicy cologne.

Even the most Spartan father will find himself relaxing on Christmas Day, if he finds these surprises waiting for him.

SHOPPING for men's toiletries? Always sample the scent before you buy, advise Citation House experts. After-shave lotion or cologne should be tested on the hand.

CLEAN GAS COOKING

"No greasy smoke pouring out into my kitchen because my new GAS Range has a smokeless broiler"

"Gas broiling is one reason why we didn't have to wash our kitchen walls this Fall. Flame consumes smoke so I can broil with the door shut. No greasy smoke pouring out—everything in my kitchen stays clean longer. I hear other women complain because they have to broil with the oven door open. I'm convinced that flame broiling is not only cleaner—but meat tastes better when it's flame-seared."

Clean! No boilovers! The Burner-with-a-Brain* regulates the flame automatically to do away with boilover mess. Food won't burn or overcook. Makes any pan automatic.
*A.G.A. slogan

Roasts just right every time! Always done as you like them—and automatically. Rare, medium or well done—a built-in meat thermometer guarantees perfect results every time.

Lemon Sauce With Chicken

We recently visited the lemon groves of southern California and learned there, at beautiful homes set among their fragrance, how much fresh lemons can do to make food taste better. And incidentally, to add valuable vitamin C to the diet.

Broiled Chicken Brushed with Lemon Butter Sauce

Two (2½ to 3-pound) ready-to-cook broiling chickens, split; ½ cup fresh lemon juice, ½ cup melted butter (¼ pound), ½ teaspoon seasoned salt.

Place chicken halves with skin sides down on pan in broiler about 7 to 9 inches from heat. Combine remaining ingredients into sauce, blending well.

Ap-pealing Bells

Make bells of quilted aluminum foil and fill with cranberry sherbet and freeze for another holiday touch. These can be served frozen. A Christmas tree cake, too, may be baked ahead of time and topped with whipped cream frosting and decorated with candies to form the outline of the tree.

Home Christmas decorations take on a sparkling air when done in silver or gold. Spray a large sheet of construction paper and let it dry. Then trace and cut stars, trees, deer or Santas to use as ornaments, mirror and window decorations or place cards during the season.

Granges

Smith Program is Held

Members of the Juvenile Grange presented a play entitled "The Thanksgiving Dinner." Mrs. Glen Turner read a poem, and two vocal selections were presented by Mr. and Mrs. John Hammond Jr. and James Hammond, accompanied by Mrs. John Hammond Sr.

It was announced that Mrs. Harry Watkins has received an award from the Ohio State Grange for her work as secretary. Smith Grange received a state award for community service.

Future events announced included a meeting of Mahoning County Pomona Grange Friday at Poland Center, an officers conference on Monday at the home of Miss Rachel Oesch, and the next meeting Dec. 5, with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eshler in charge of refreshments.

Lunch following the meeting was served by Mr. and Mrs. John Hammond and Mr. and Mrs. John Hammond Jr.

Questions and Answers

A—Bolivia, although it was the last to gain its freedom. Independence was proclaimed in 1809, but the wars to secure it were not won until 1825.
